Thread: Make 1 BTC From Scratch Challenge.

Qian - January 9, 2016, 7:07 am

I too will participate.

I promise you that if you try your best at this, you will succeed far past this challenge.

The challenge is to make 1BTC from absolutely 0.

Here are the rules:

- You're not allowed to invest a single penny of what you currently have into this.
- Already established services don't count (eg an already established website you own)
- You cannot use anything you already have set up.

My challenge log:

Code Not started yet.

u wot m8 - January 9, 2016, 11:57 am

Faucets, gambling and trading then? I'm impatient so I don't think I'll be participating lol.

Will revisit the thread though if anyone starts to take part.

severos - January 9, 2016, 12:20 pm

What are the available methods? and is there any time restrictions? like first one to reach is winner? lol.

I'd have participated, but have exams coming so might do after.

Doodlegod - January 9, 2016, 12:21 pm

So anything's allowed, such as selling items/services etc? Or do you literally have to like, make a few cents in a faucet - invest that into whatever - etc?

Kinguin - January 9, 2016, 12:21 pm

How about eWhoring, does that count in?

Effexion - January 9, 2016, 12:25 pm

I like the idea of this. If I wasn't so caught up in old ventures I would love to participate.

You can sell anything that you didn't previously have before you start the challenge. Eg, if you had an item before you started, that doesn't count, if you obtain an item because of something you did before that challenge started, that doesn't count either.

Vouch for this. I always make my clients pay in btc before oral so there is no issues on payment after I provide my services.

RxQueen - January 9, 2016, 3:24 pm

I did this, Used money from my old BTC address that i got from stellar Promo and gambled it on Bustabit, Didn't get 1Bitcoin but close 0.9 or something lol.

There are a lot more ways to earn bitcoin from just faucets, gambling and trading.

[Johny] - January 9, 2016, 10:31 pm

I am totally into this.

Currently own 0 BTC and no money on whatsoever source from the internet.

Everything I will do will be from scratch.

EziNet - January 10, 2016, 2:52 am

Definitely not...I don't brag, nor do I like sharing financial info on public forums but I can personally say it is possible making 1BTC from scratch, without gambling or any high risk type of revenue.

Mr. Robot - January 12, 2016, 1:51 am

I'm participating in this if you will have me senpai.

Will not invest a single penny :)

y-y-youtoo - January 12, 2016, 10:06 am

I'm already trying this. I'll start with faucets (0.00020116 BTC atm, which is nothing).

Lemme see if I can make it

Dr. Forum - January 12, 2016, 11:54 am

Seem to be a nice idea and worth trying it out. I will however want to hear from your experience and the tips you have been able to use and they bore fruits. I will be glad to learn and even implement them. We need to grow our bitcoin buddies.

severos - January 12, 2016, 11:57 am

So, any ideas on how to start building it up??

Not exactly the fastest way to kick off your balance, but it's a start I guess damn faucets D: really hate them ?

like really, prefer using a single faucet like # instead of a rotator, aint got time to waste that much after all ?

I keep telling myself to start but I always get held up and busy! I have plans to go back to my roots on how I built the money I used to kick start my businesses.

I will start either today or tomorrow! I promise!

MoZyDz - January 13, 2016, 5:21 am well, i've made 5$ on btc from creating gmail account for a member here on HF, never done it before!

I made $300 today for getting some passwords - even though they could have with the link in my signature for $2.

It was $300NZD so far from 6 people and I don't normally charge - only doing this for the challenge.
It's around 196$ usd for those who are wondering.

neo_darkcoder - January 13, 2016, 5:35 am vouch for this , I'm in for this

Ramsey - January 13, 2016, 5:40 am

Im gonna try this. Are there any time boundries?

I hope you send me a personal thank you for helping Xer gather some of those databases on the site in your description :)

Also - It's kind of defeating the objective of the challenge, seeing as you're using something you already had before this. If you want to legitimately go full iron man, you would have had to earn enough to pay for LS from scratch.

I get paid upfront anyways so I will take of $30 for the LS sub and won't use any databases I have. I don't get it though - like does that mean knowledge too?

PS. He better thank me for earning him a total over 3k paypal and 2btc upwards.

You're still using an already existing service you have.

Everything has to be from scratch, as if you just got onto the internet and all you have is your HF account. Only knowledge can guide you. Investments you made before the challenge don't count. Investments you make during the challenge do.

I'm using the service "hackforums"

I'm still up $270NZD on you.
