

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Anime simmilar to Golden time and Toradora

spiderjoker - January 9, 2016, 3:42 pm

are there any anime that are simmilar to Golden time and Toradora?

CorrosiveBlueberry - January 9, 2016, 3:52 pm

(Jan 9, 2016 04:42 PM)spiderjoker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) are there any anime that are simmilar to Golden time and Toradora?

That's difficult to say, because in my opinion Golden time as well as toradora both have aspects to them that make them really great as romance/drama/comedy. That most in the romance drama don't have.

Clannad, and clannad after story

Kanon (2006)

Kimi ga Nozomu Eien

Suzuka

Hanbun no Tsuki ga Noboru Sora (6 episodes)

Grisaia no Kajitsu and sequels (It's not exactly entirely similar, however it is romance genre, and very high quality, and i highly recommend , it is hard to find exact similar shows to golden time and toradora)

Amagami SS / And Sequel (It's straight romance i believe, doesn't rely on comedy or drama really, however it's still really good, and i think its called Omnibus episode format)

And these two if you haven't seen but they are more Drama reliant and not romance, so not related to golden time or toradora really but somehow relate in my head (drama) : Usagi Drop, Anohana

I have some other romance shows on my list however tbh i wouldn't recommend them, except for the stuff above, because golden time and toradora were the best, and the ones above were similar as well, Because they relied on Romance/comedy or romance/drama, instead of only romance.

$uicide - January 9, 2016, 8:06 pm

my little monster, as close as you are going to get. its also really good

Gladly - January 9, 2016, 10:00 pm

http://myanimelist.net/anime/23273/Shigatsu_wa_Kimi_no_Uso

Both Your Lie in April and Golden Time have a similar beginning, with the love interest seeming to be interested in another guy. Both have protags have emotional trouble.

You won't regret watching this; I don't watch too many recent shows, but this was fantastic.

_wind - January 9, 2016, 10:27 pm

I've enjoyed them both, and have found that Nisekoi is probably the closest one imo.

Ang?I - January 10, 2016, 8:05 am

(Jan 9, 2016 11:27 PM)Polunom Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've enjoyed them both, and have found that Nisekoi is probably the closest one imo.

Nisekoi isn't similar to those two at all.

CorrosiveBlueberry - January 10, 2016, 8:19 am

(Jan 10, 2016 09:05 AM)Ang?I Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nisekoi isn't similar to those two at all.

I agree that it isn't, i couldn't get into it, i liked the first 2 episodes or so, but as i got into the 4th or something i dropped it right away because it irritated me, it was more of like a harem, or something like because there was two girls and not just one. Sure there wasn't a ton of girls, but it just instantly gave me a pissed off feeling compared to other shows so i dropped it lol.

Gladly - January 10, 2016, 9:23 am

(Jan 10, 2016 09:19 AM)Saiyuki Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree that it isn't, i couldn't get into it, i liked the first 2 episodes or so, but as i got into the 4th or something i dropped it right away because it irritated me, it was more of like a harem, or something like because there was two girls and not just one. Sure there wasn't a ton of girls, but it just instantly gave me a pissed off feeling compared to other shows so i dropped it lol.

It probably felt like a harem because Nisekoi is a harem.

Larceny - January 11, 2016, 3:27 am

Boku wa Tomodachi ga Sukunai

Your Lie in April

Koi to Senkyo to Chocolate

Spice and Wolf

Oregairu

Sakurasou no Pet na Kanojo

Sankarea

White Album 2

These are just suggestions based on my personal opinion. They're all related to Golden Time and Toradora, as they're all a bit more of a serious Romance. Out of all of those, Oregairu, Your Lie in April and White Album 2 are probably the most similar. They're both serious romances based in a realistic situation.

If you decide to check any of them out, please give me your opinion!

Happy watching!

Stella Vermillion - January 11, 2016, 7:57 am

Oregairu, Haganai and your lie in april are probably the closest to what you are looking for,

but if you are looking for also supernatural(in golden time) then the above animes doesnt count.

Tamamo - January 11, 2016, 8:50 am

I have only seen Toradora, so I will base my suggestions around that anime.

My first suggestion is: http://myanimelist.net/anime/1195/Zero_no_Tsukaima

Zero no Tsukaima revolves around a failure of a witch in an alternative world, where she is about to summon a 'pet'. The 'pet' she summons is a human, who comes from the world we know and of course that leads to uproar (the other wizards and witches summoned some sorts of monsters/animals). The characters is ZnT is very similar to Toradora, where Louise and Taiga both are tsunderes. The plots are entirely different, but ZnK is still a good choice.

My other suggestion is:

http://myanimelist.net/anime/8769/Ore_no_Imouto_ga_Konnani_Kawaii_Wake_ga_Nai

Oreimo is about a pair of siblings, who hate each other. One day, the older brother finds out his annoying little sister is an otaku and they start becoming more dependent of each other. Toradora and Oreimo are similar in the romantic aspects, where Oreimo got a bigger palette of different girls with different personalities. You got both a yandere, a tsundere and a shut-in. They also got some of the similar 'fighting' scenes as Toradora.

Larceny - January 11, 2016, 12:25 pm

For the record, you can always go to the recommendations section of any title on MAL.

<http://myanimelist.net/anime/4224/Toradora!/userrecs>

RainbowHentAi - January 11, 2016, 8:50 pm

How do you misspell similar?