

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Fake text generators?

Un-Named - January 10, 2016, 1:00 am for example: fakeproof.c99.nl

any more sites just like this? HMU!

I think the font is too similar I wish there were different but similar fonts for the letters

Finn. - January 10, 2016, 1:25 am

(Jan 10, 2016 02:00 AM)DJ Khaled 305 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) for example: fakeproof.c99.nl

any more sites just like this? HMU!

I think the font is too similar I wish there were different but similar fonts for the letters

I don't know one, only solution is to photoshop it.

Oddissee - January 10, 2016, 2:08 am

There are no other sites like this made yet!

Photoshop is the best, you should invest time into it as you'll be able to photoshop basically anything!

Finn. - January 10, 2016, 2:19 am

(Jan 10, 2016 03:08 AM)Oddissee Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There are no other sites like this made yet!

Photoshop is the best, you should invest time into it as you'll be able to photoshop basically anything!

It's also easy, a noob could learn it in 10min's.

Rasterbater - January 10, 2016, 2:48 am

It's easy, use a low res image so it'll pixleate before they can zoom in to check if its real or not.

When you get more advanced you'll be able to make an "actions" so It'll automate all the little details you do to the text.

???? - January 10, 2016, 3:42 am

There's already threads about this. I have a mega compilation with a few threads that talk about this. It's about brush settings, blurring the text a bit after writing it, then adding Gaussian blur (i think 2.0 setting?). EZPZ

Rasterbater - January 10, 2016, 5:36 am

It's straight forward when you start doing it

i.imgur.com/E9yHylv.jpg

LuckyFriend - January 10, 2016, 5:41 am i think he wants to know if you can find sites with girls holding a piece of paper?

not how to photoshop text on the paper i think, i may be wrong..