Thread: [\[Tutorial\] Remove your dox!](#)

Mr. Robot - January 12, 2016, 5:37 pm

Hello ! So again here to just help you out and teach you something new, free of charge.

To remove unwanted information on <http://pastebin.com/> you can send an email to admin@pastebin.com and state what you are after and why, with a direct link to the webpage you want removed.

For example - To get a dox removed you just say

"There is a document on your website containing personal information and puts my safety and security at risk. I would like this removed, Thank you very much.
(Link to the paste you want removed)"

Almost every paste type site has a contact form where you can find where to email or submit - just be polite when asking and make sure you explain that it is a security risk.

So now you have your dox/leaked document removed, you can still click the little arrow in google results and find the cache.

To remove that, the only requirements are a gmail. Once you have a gmail head to <https://www.google.com/webmasters/tools/removals?pli=1>

Sign in if you aren't already, then enter the link to the cached page you want removed. Keep in mind this only works if the page has changed/been removed since the cache only gets updated according to the change.

Basically yeah put the URL to the site in and submit - wait 2-3 days at most usually and it'll be gone for good.

Hope this little tutorial helps, will be making a simple one on how to get almost any part of maps.google.com unblurred in the future.

Cheers mate - simple stuff but it seems some people don't know how to do this yet.

Updated with more information.

If nobody needs this or it's too simple, please let me know so I can help you out.

Awesome 0day! I'm so thankful for selfless members like yourself who share their priv8 Pastebin and Google Cache content removal exploits with the community.

People like you are the reason why Hackforums.net is such a thriving, well-respected cybercrime forum comprised of elite hackers. Again, I'm forever grateful!

Can't tell if sarcasm or what - must be me.

Cheers anyways - just hoping this can help some people.

Pretty nice if your dox is on pastebin I guess. But most of mine are not :3

Mr. Robot - January 14, 2016, 8:45 am

It's just a simple tutorial and it works for pretty much any site.

Sevn Alias - January 14, 2016, 8:48 am

Thanks for the tutorial. Already knew this.

EihSerB - January 14, 2016, 8:50 am

Wait, you're telling me people don't know this yet?

Removing cached pages from google is a little hidden secret that people worry about but it can be done as shown above.

If people don't like this tutorial, quite honestly they can piss off - It's just here for helping people.

Very nice tut dude thank you for this. happy to see more of your tutorials.

Mr. Robot - July 1, 2019, 3:18 am

Guess this is kinda handy still.

necr0dr - July 3, 2019, 7:58 pm

You can also remove your house from Google Maps if you request it, just one less thing to worry about.

dcn.cristi - July 4, 2019, 2:36 pm

Thanks for sharing, sir! Highly appreciated.
