Thread: Someone else with an RGH fucked up my RGH?

Lor?d - January 16, 2016, 8:10 pm

Okay so I was on GTA with a few friends and someone else joined the session. I know they were a modder due to the "v28" in their name.

Well I was dropping some money fr some friends then out of nowhere my character moved into the air a little bit like something spawned under me then my rgh froze. Now everytime I turn it on once I try to load the dashboard I freeze.

Is this permanent? Did this other person just fuck up my RGH?

More importantly how the hell can someone do this through GTA?

Edit: Okay if I stay on that login screen then launch a game through 360 neighborhood it's fine but I still can't load the dashboard or I freeze.

That sounds so weird to happen through the game. First try starting it without any storage device connected to see if a dashlaunch plugin or anything else could be causing the issue. If that doesn't work just reflash your nand through xellous with a usb.

I don't know how to flash nands.

I tried hitting the disc eject button on boot and I guess that makes it start without plugins? Whatever it may be it worked fine.

I also found that if I dashboard without being signed in it loads fine but if I sign in and dashboard it freezes.

Sounds like it's just something caused by whatever combination of plugins/files you're running. Sometimes it happens and you usually figure it out by removing one thing at a time until it stops.

Call xbox support they should be able to help you with this..

Nah just remove your HDD it might be a plugin of something messing it up.. i was getting fatal crash on mine then i found i had a cpukey.txt in a folder.. Now i dont get fatal crashes.. Remove your HDD and see if you still freeze Clear Cache, That should help.

BTW just because they have "v" then a number doesn't make them a modder lol

I'm well aware but it is very common among modders to do that.

Still can't dashboard. I've found that if the KV on the RGH is banned I can dashboard just fine, but the second I put a fresh KV on it freezes on the loading icon.

What stealth server are you running, and if you put a fresh kv on it is supposed to reboot.

It does reboot. Once it reboots it starts freezing on the dashboard again.

Running MrModz1999 for now. Plan on switching to a paid one shortly. But i'm running the same exact plugins on two different rghs. It only has problems on one of them.

Scortex - January 20, 2016, 8:58 am

Okay, do not use MrModz, and do you have the same CPuKey that was authed for MrModz?

Yep. I always get the confirmation message saying "Welcome  | Lifetime"

Whenever i'm successfully connected to xbl then the dashboard won't load.

If the KV is banned and I can't connect then it loads the dashboard just fine.

What stealth should I use? I can buy paid for one rgh but not both.

Try exbls.net, and contact him on aim, you can last a week an a day playing gta and cod. Server has Free Lifetime.

I love it, its so professional.
