Thread: Do I have to redeem my AGC?

finessemvm - January 18, 2016, 10:39 am

Do I have to redeem my AGC or can I leave it in my email until I wanna do something with it?

Pittinger - January 18, 2016, 10:41 am

You can leave it in your e-mail.

I do that while I wait for an exchanger.

Martjin - January 18, 2016, 10:43 am

You can leave it there , no problem

Can people who send you gift cards charge back or get it back? I got $15 one from someone and I just claimed it right then

I don't think so. If they refunded it I think they would get banned off Amazon and Amazon would deal with it. I don't think it can get back to you.

if they emailed you the code i dont think they can do anything to get it back, however if they emailed to themselves and sent it over kik they could just redeem the code

nvm if you redeemed it then no they cant get it back, sorry i missed the part where you said you redeemed it

If they sent you the AGC by the Amazon Gift page (so you got it from the official Amazon e-mail), you are the only one with the code. They can't see it.

However, I don't know what would happen if they called their back and reversed their transaction.
