Thread: MILKING vs DIPPING

Brahma™ - January 18, 2016, 9:39 pm

I will keep this short. I prefer milking in comparison to dipping a customer. I have never dipped anyone just because dipping not only spoils the business for you, but for other e-whorers as well. Sharing these screenshots just to encourage people to put their brains into use, to start milking their customers instead of dipping them.

Though dipping is not good and nor I advice to do it but if your customer is dumb then you can try to dip him cause it will give you extra money .

You should milk the customer instead of dipping .

Edit : This thread this not motivating me now I am jealous from you .

Question: How you use paypal without getting it limited?

Be very cautious with it. Don't eWhore too much and when sending it to other accounts make sure, instead of just sending as friends and family, to send it as goods and services. A fee, but paypal doesn't trigger off too many alarms that way.

If a customer is dumb....do not DIP. Milk him EVEN MORE with different tactics.

Don't be jealous. Stay hungry; Stay foolish.

What the fuck did you just said to this crap? Tell me how it's work! I don't have a customer that comes over 2 times, so sad!

That's because you do not know how to talk to him.A client who pays is valuable, and once he pays, you must do everything possible to keep him and you'll have a regular customer.You'll save time and make more cash.After you gave the pics/videos try to talk to him, as a friend, not as a customer from behind a rack store.They're creepy,they look everyday to your pics/videos,and after some time, they will give you more money,trust me.

Guys, put yourselves on their places. Understand why are they doing this. And then use it against them, while making them think it's actually for them.

Well done man!

But yeah, you're dead right.

Would any other business take pride in having a high employee turnover?

Well that's what happens when you persistently double-dip, plus you expose yourself to scam complaints, which could escalate, and cause you a bit of trouble particularly if you're using photos of a girl from whom you have not obtained copyright.

TI;DR OP is right, milking is safer, because it preserves consent.

Please do not use Paypal if you've created a fake one.

After a short while they wanted me to provide ID, and my money got trapped.
