Thread: How Staff Trick Ban/Trick You

?Zero - January 20, 2016, 3:16 am

Hi guys, i am sharing this due to recently finding out about it, and i am sure most people do fall for this...

This is how Staff of minecraft servers trick you, while finding hackers:

VVVVV

Spoiler (Click to View)

Covered some stuff, just for the info covering ;3

In small-decent sized servers Such as Factions and PvP, the reason they do this, is that they could efficiently spot hackers, and clean up their community, while also having logs to detect suspicious activity...

I've been watched like a pair of tits, by these staff, following me around, as they had picked up something suspicious, that was my "NoFall" I figured later... after turning it off they started spawning chest under me... because who doesn't enable chest finder on these kinds of servers... anyways funny thing is someone was trying to get his friend unbanned, and the admin said that he put a chest under him, therefor his friend was banned for xray as the admin used /v to hide himself.

This is just one of the many ways that server staff can trick you to a ban.

This is obvious, my nametags/tracers catch them bitches in /v, doesn't matter what kind they're using. And as soon as they tp to me I X-ray them to see them place a chest down.

As far as I am concerned, you cannot see players that are vanished with vnp. Did I miss something?

Of course you can, good ESPs and nametags will still render to it.

You can even render the player model, in a slightly transparent state.

No it won't. This only works with essentials-vanish, which isn't really widely used. For the same reason, of course. Almost all servers use VPN, which makes it so hacked clients cannot detect them, and as such, it cannot draw tracers, nametags, render models or anything in that nature.

Detecting /v? VPNs? The hell are you guys talking about?

VanishNoPacket is a vanish plugin where the server 100% does not send you ANY packets of the location of /v'd admins. They can even open chests and you wouldn't know about it.

And that plugin is 4 years outdated. If your ESP can detect vanished admins, then you've either found one of the best ever exploits or the server is using a very stupid vanish plugin.

Damn bro, this is sticky worthy.

What server is this lmao? The staff on here have to be young with lots of time to waste.

Awesome_Miner24 - January 22, 2016, 2:07 pm

That's why you shouldn't go onto a server while a mod or admin is on.

wait. what? I dont get it wtf

I don't understand shit ? So what if they place chests underground?

ZerFallen - January 22, 2016, 10:31 pm

For those who don't understand the chests are placed underground for a reason; they're placed there so that if you were to mine one of those spots in an empty room they would know you were and are using xray.
