Is it possible to install ip changer on your computer, and then use it and create a lots of chaturbate accounts through it ? I would make my website and put my affiliate link there, it will not be suspicious.

I'd imagine that the website you're using would have filters against VPNs and the datacenters you'd be connecting to. You're not the first one to think of something like this.

you could use vps instead some cheap ones only need to set up the video and off it goes only problem with that is chaturbate uses photo id good luck faking those buddy

It's not that simple, that platforms have a high security so you should use a VPS.

what do you guys mean by vps ?

Chaturbate would find it very suspicious that every referral you made had literally no interaction with any cams, never deposited and money or benefited them in any way. For example if you legitimately referred 100 people, some would be bound to purchase tokens, ect. Chaturbate would claim your referrals are fake and not pay you. It won't work.
