you try too hard @ your job m8.

good job

He did an awesome job dealing with the situation last night, I can honestly say I'd be glad to see him promoted to staff one day, he really deserves it.

In my honest opinion I think he did the best he could at trying to handle the whole situation. I'd think he would make a great staff member.

I think he did quite well during the absence of Omniscient and his Staff.

He's been staff here before alongside myself, it's not up to members to determine who are worthy of staff. That is Omniscients choice.

Yes, I'll get around to thanking those who were indeed helpful when I'm done with the important work I'm doing now.
