Thread: Thread Moved to Wrong Section? Post Here and Have It Moved Back!

Roger Waters - January 24, 2016, 7:11 am

To prevent Staff's inboxes from being flooded with messages about threads being located in the wrong section due to the events yesterday, I've decided to make a thread for members to request their threads being moved to the correct sections.

Use the following code as a response and it will be moved by a Staff Member when we get the chance.

I guess this was needed. Good luck/work RW.

Granny Bacon - January 24, 2016, 7:16 am

All my E-whore threads are pretty much moved in the wrong section, makes my profile look a little bit more LQ than it is but it's okay.

Good that you are offering to do this.

Quick question, if we notice a thread is in the wrong section such as a freebie or contest in the lounge and it isn't our thread, are we allowed to report it here to get moved back?

I really hate to make such a LQ statement as I am about to, but it is so suiting.

You Guys are the Real MVPs ?

TY to staff, your efforts are so appreciated.

Please don't bother reporting old threads to be moved. Staff should just close them at best but really members are wasting out time with stuff like that. Keep your reports to current threads that are active. Otherwise just don't bother please.

Apologies, majority of those threads I didn't really bother to check the date on & was reporting it because it was obviously in the wrong section.

I'll make sure to only report active and newer threads.

Alright we gave you guys a week. If you didn't contact us to get your threads moved they probably weren't that important enough for you to notice they were misplaced. Hopefully this helped you guys, so thank you for being patient during this process. This thread has served its purpose, consider it closed.
