

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Close scamreport, when thread close & member close. woahxx - January 24, 2016, 11:48 am

So there is this "scam report" on me, and the member who created it - apparently has closed the thread, and has been banned. Would it also be marked as "Resolved/Closed" in the dispute DB?

I think this should be implemented, as an automated action. As I kinda think it gets invalid as soon the thread gets closed, and the member gets closed.

woahxx - January 24, 2016, 12:36 pm

(Jan 24, 2016 01:26 PM)- Sam - Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just because a dispute is open against a member that doesn't automatically make that member guilty.

Unfortunately since the member has been closed he won't be able to resolve the dispute. Members can read the thread seeing the dispute was resolved and the member was closed, you have nothing to worry about, this will not affect any sales. I know man, it is about me specifically - just generally. As it would probably annoy a lot of people, that it keeps hanging in the air.

CPA Exposé - January 24, 2016, 12:40 pm

Whether that member is closed or not the dispute should stay .

What happened still happened

You are part of the dispute and your account is still open therefore still valid .

It still serves as a warning for others.