Thread: Moderation Staff Kudos

I have been on many forums and almost every single one of them hate their moderation staff. Spam forums are taken care of promptly, along with junk threads. I am impressed with the community so far, and hope to be a long lasting member.

I feel the same. The mods here are great at dealing with things with haste.

Yeah, they are pretty good around here

Welcome to HackForums mate.

Yup, I think that the harsher requirements (unstated) are good. The users selected never fail to keep their activities professional.

Except for those times where they go on crazy rampages or sell their accounts for pocket change.

Nah on a real note, most of the staff members are pretty good at what they do and have been longstanding contributors to HF.

They're liked until you don't, I guess.

They are pretty good from what I see!

Only thing I'm missing is partial involvement in disputes

Rey? - January 25, 2016, 12:42 pm

Yeah all the moderators all loved here on HF

The moderators here are generally well-respected users long before they are ever chosen to be moderators. Which is just one of the reasons they are liked.
