It got blanked out. Fix the link

Prettykitty - January 25, 2016, 5:26 pm

Thanks, I don't think this is a giveaway or free. Should be in shopping deals, i believe

Not Matt - January 25, 2016, 5:27 pm

Link is broken man, fix it.

Would be happy for spotify tho.

Posting so I can save this for when my Premium expires.

zezima96 - January 26, 2016, 9:40 am

Damn. This will save me about $100... nice.

Asset - January 26, 2016, 9:48 am

If you create a US account, can you use it without a US IP for longer than 14 days?

Ricky™ - January 26, 2016, 9:49 am

Hell yeah thanks for hooking us up OP.

Might buy some if I can resell them.

yeah you can use it anywhere! aslong your account is registered as US. I am from the UK and been using my account for 6 months now, also sold lots on ebay with no complain.

I used to resell these with no problem, only had a problem with selling windows 10 and office. Got my hard earned ebay account permanently banned.

Does anyone know where these guys get these codes from?

that I dont know, but i spoke to one of the seller and said that they make $5-$10 profit from selling them.

zezima96 - January 26, 2016, 12:42 pm

Damn... if people didn't scam on eBay... resell.

They're fraudulent, they'll work but keep in mind you put your account at risk. It's unlikely Spotify will cancel legitimate accounts that are using these, but it is a risk.

dhgate . com sir

anatho - January 28, 2016, 5:32 am

1. There is no link. What "d h g a t e.com"? This is same as if you would say you found a laptop for $100 and the link is "ebay.com".

2. This will not work for outside of USA. It is pointless to use a vpn for redeeming. After 14 days it will stop working telling you that you cannot use it from abroad for longer than 2 weeks.

3. Make a lot of money on ebay with this? How? It is not even allowed to sell this. Will be removed sooner or later. Digital items sent by email can only be sold as a classified ad, not as BIN or auction. The only sites where it is allowed are ebay.de and ebay.co.uk, but makes no sense selling there because the accounts do not work there.

Also you are buying here for $30, and they are currently sold on ebay for $40-48. So if you add ebay and paypal fees to your $30 and sell for 40-48 you won't make a dime if not even being at a loss.

Success - January 28, 2016, 8:31 am

Aside from the 40 day shipping.. not a bad deal.

dude, i can provide proof! and about the price at $30 did you know that they used to sell these code for $10-$15 4-5 months ago? I shared it because Yoi are right about not making a dime now! but 4-5 months ago it was different. I am from the uk, Sold it for £35

Hmmm idk, there are so many different spotify codes but the ones that require a vpn for redeeming normally only work for the country where the vpn is from. If you use from home IP from another country, normally it stops working after a couple of weeks telling you that you have to login at least once now from US to continue using from abroad.....

$30 is still much cheaper than the original price, but on ebay there is no profit, also if selling on ebay.com you will get the listing removed sooner or later.

If they sold a $120 product for $10 some month ago so I really would like to know how this could be even possible without carding the codes.

That's the catch, it's not. They're fraudulently obtained. That's why I mentioned earlier in the thread that it puts your account at risk. At the end of the day though, Spotify is unlikely to ban legitimate personal accounts. If you're creating accounts in bulk with these codes though, assume they'll be closed.

I worked with a promotional company that had a contract with Spotify to buy codes in bulk for giveaways and promotions, and even then our rates weren't that low.

well you know, haven't received a single charge back yet. So its all fine.

Minesweeper - January 28, 2016, 10:41 am

That's what I'm saying, it's not the end user who runs into trouble. Very rarely would Spotify close an account unless it's a recurring issue with that account.

It's the people that are selling them that run into issues when DHGate, eBay, or wherever they're selling them through, have internal audits for taxation purposes etc. DHGate looks to be Chinese so it doesn't matter, but for instance if someone who isn't Chinese is selling them on eBay they'd eventually run into issues. Especially if they're in the US

Asset - January 28, 2016, 11:08 am

A problem with these codes: You will only have the American selection of music available no matter what IP you are using. Therefore, some local songs might not be on Spotify, even though they are there.

To fix this, you have to change your country. And you change country by adding payment information, which automatically changes your country to the country where your credit/debit card was issued or your Paypal address' country.

Does anyone know if you will lose Spotify Premium (after you redeemed the US gift card) if you add payment information to change country?

No, once credit is added to the account it's converted to premium time. Changing your country shouldn't affect however much time you have remaining.
