

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Bypass 25 chars

Unturned - January 31, 2016, 2:14 pm

Each day I see members posting under 25 chars, is it against the law?

Cap - January 31, 2016, 2:17 pm

They could put invisible characters in the post or quote posts to add extra characters. If you're talking about staff, they receive a decreased character limit.

daymon - January 31, 2016, 2:18 pm

(Jan 31, 2016 03:17 PM)I Flawless I Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They could put invisible characters in the post or quote posts to add extra characters. If you're talking about staff, they receive a decreased character limit.

Doesn't answer his question. Yes OP, this is against the law.

ViN - January 31, 2016, 2:19 pm

If you see posts avoiding the character requirements, report them as Low Quality.

<https://hackforums.net/misc.php?action=help&hid=11>

StevesTrolls - January 31, 2016, 2:19 pm

Well, padding the post out to bypass the 25 character limit typically constitutes LQP (Low Quality Posting), and is typically disallowed on HF - although it isn't against the law ?

b?xxy - January 31, 2016, 2:20 pm

It's against the rules, and you should just report for low-quality posting.

Bonfire - January 31, 2016, 2:21 pm

(Jan 31, 2016 03:14 PM)Unturned Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Each day I see members posting under 25 chars, is it against the law?

Yes. You will be arrested.

Retribute - January 31, 2016, 2:40 pm

Yes, they will be convicted of harboring low quality in their bodily fluids.

ha4x0r - January 31, 2016, 2:42 pm

Yes its against the law I recommend dialing 911 whenever you see this occur.

TheChosenOunce - January 31, 2016, 2:44 pm

You should get a lawyer if you post under 25 characters, I think its like 10 years in jail :(

Mr.Cat - January 31, 2016, 2:45 pm

(Jan 31, 2016 03:14 PM)Unturned Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Each day I see members posting under 25 chars, is it against the law?

Unturned did you sold your account to anyone ?

Verizur - January 31, 2016, 2:47 pm

It is against the rule "LQ posting". I see a lot of users posting shit like "#notenoughchars" and it's bugging me.

Doctor Blue - January 31, 2016, 3:34 pm

It's not allowed. Please report the post as low quality when you see them and staff will take care of it.

King of Hearts - January 31, 2016, 7:15 pm

To add to this, posting images without 25 characters or quoting posts and replying to said quote with less than 25 characters are both not allowed.