this website Track2chip.com claims to sell illegal stuffs for fraud and hacking of credit cards.

he has ripped till now more then 80k $ and keeps on scamming and no one is being able to hack although he was reported to his host server provider and nothing done yet.

i do not know if u can help some people around the world from not being scammed.
cause this idiot is a pro RIPPER!

Contact law enforcement. He will likely be caught.

I have a feeling that it's your competitor and you're trying to get rid of it.

no my friend, i'm not but he is ripper.

he ripped alot of people.

why you have this feeling ? this is ridiculous, i contacted tomatocart but they seems to be dead no replies and nothing.

i am not competitor, wireless network u seems a kid acting in a childish way heh!

You're the one who's asking for help, with that behaviour goodluck finding someone.

You are getting so defensive over a comment.

That doesn't help your case, makes it seem more obvious about the fact that you have to get rid of your competitor.

People just don't go out of their own way to take a website down unless something is in it for them.
