Yeah I believe so aswell. It doesn't require any external plugins such as freeradius or whmcs which makes it unique script for a vpn service. Thanks!

Installing OpenVPN on the servers doesn't require any skills and it takes no more then 10 minutes to setup a new vpn server ?

Hi I have many questions ! And highly interested !

1. The VPN I'll make will be non profit and A1
2. Can you create a mobile app ?
3. Can you make a custom client ?
4. Id love to add many locations as I can
5. I'd love to make it so that members can get static IPs

I've added you on skype. Highly interested.

I am going to answer some of this as I actually own a copy of this source.

It is possible to make a mobile app for this, but you would most probably have to develop it from scratch - source for custom client is included.

Adding locations is easily possible, just a few buttons to do it - only thing is, you have to install

OpenVPN and configure yourself on each VPS (he also provides a setup service), as well as the static IPs, this is not something included as standard in the panel.

Hope I've helped somewhat :)

Sounds Good Mate

Will you also be modifying it so that when the user sets the port forward he does not need to enter the internal ip as that may confuse some customers.

Also it may be good idea to set coupon so that you can issue coupon so user can register with that instead of paying on the site, Also in the admin panel it would be good if you could add users manually and add free months, custom price and things like that.

I think what you have done it amazing the script is well designed and i will be a customer soon

Internal ip is different for each customer. I will be adding a baloon tip that explains what is it for so customers don't get confused.

I have already implemented a gift code system, you can mass generate codes with desired length and added giving subscription over admin panel, the demo isn't updated yet but those features already added.

Thank you, hope to hear from you soon.

No, it has nothing to do with openvpn licensing and software. And if you wonder, this is not nulled / cracked anyhow.. so running a vpn service with this is completely legal.

Well it requires openvpn as vpn server, but in the way you install it manually and not by openvpn installer which also installs a web panel that you manage logins etc. otherwise it will require licensing.

Thank you ?

So doing it this way doesn't require licensing? ?

Interesting as that was one of my biggest "barriers to entry" was the licensing side of things.

Exactly. They require licensing if you use their web panel and auto-installer.. but if you do the setup manually and use my script, you don't need any kind of licenses.

OpenVPN is a free and open source system, so no additional costs. This script is for provisioning mainly.

I understand that actually some of the OpenVPN is licensing and costs per user. Here at HF, a lot of the time the sellers would undercut OpenVPN minimum costs which is what confused me a lot of the time.

It's only now that I've found out you can cut out the OpenVPN costs by using your own web-panel and doing a manual installation. :)

Yes exactly, the servers for the vpn cost few bucks per month (depending on quality, I can't tell every vpn provider using same quality servers). I saw few people that started their own service and went really far with it.

Are you able to create private packages in the admin panel so that you can assign it to user but a user could not choose the package themselves.

For example i have package that is free i would only want to assign that to certain users and if i created free package i would not want users to be able to register with the free package.

Also what would happen if i had for example a package for $1 when i started out to get customers and then after few weeks put the price up to $4, Would all users have to pay $4 or could i just charge new customers $4 and keep the old ones paying $1.

Also can you add user from admin panel ?

Sorry for all the questions, I am very interested though

You can't create private packages right now but you can assign vpn account with desired length to a user over the admin panel (this option is not available in demo, as it wasnt updated). The renewal of vpns will be done with the price you set on your package, so if you change from 1$ to 4$, customers will need to pay the updated amount to renew it.

Adding user from admin panel is not possible, but you can assign vpn membership through admin panel as I said above. Please let me know if you have other questions.
