Thread: Help | Willing to work hard and earn

PizzaBros. - February 6, 2016, 1:17 am

Hey guys,

For the last year I have basically wasted hours reading eBooks about niches, 'how to make money online' and etc from HF, Leakf and all of the threads you guys are posting on here. And I've got some knowledge as a Graphic Designer & Web Developer, I can work on these two jobs and combine them with niches and etc but I don't want to build a website for 10$ on the forums, sadly I am not too advertised on my country and I got no spare money for that, and I've tried tens of ways to make money online and just threw my time to the garbage,

I was wondering if you guys can help me find out something I can do to make some cash, not Blackhat.

I have no problem investing time and working hard, but I want the money to come someday. not like the tens of niches I have tried..

Thanks, good day.

Don't stress yourself buddy, browse the forum slowly each day, and you will bump iinto something that works for you...don't give up!

Erebos17 - February 6, 2016, 4:10 pm

The first site I got paid by was trafficsia(dot)com that was a while ago it is a legit site though, but Idk if it is still up and working, I've tried Neobux aswell but my referrals died within days and I stopped earning money =(.currently I'm going to acquire an ebook named "Overnight Income" customers say it has good methods to make money online.

I've never tried Ewhoring and never will

Thank you all guys, I'll read the few threads I haven't read already :)

Avanis - February 12, 2016, 4:58 am

Have you tried any paid eBook?

I hope you are kidding. This is the exact mistake 90 % of the people here make. Browsing around forums all day waiting for the perfect way to make money. But this will never happen. The only way to make money is when you take action and be persistent.

@OP: pick a category (marketing, coding, designing, e-commerce, freelancing, whatever) and research and try stuff out. It may take months, weeks or eventually just days until you see significant results.

Yes, I have bought a few with my brother and haven't succeeded...

Ok so I got like 35$ To invest, I was thinking about going on CPA (I also have a MaxBounty account that would make it easier, won't it?) but now I can't get verified on bingads so I can't use the vouchers I get there & I can't invest my money on there because I only got prepaid credit card & they dont accept paypal from my country.

What should I do?

Also I'm going to invest 10$ in Domain + Hosting for a Social Media company that would provide services like likes and followers from a dealer I know, what do you think about that? I'm sorry that I'm talking too much but its like my dream to do some work and make profit online and I've only made like 1000$ in 2 years from building websites.. Please help :(You're my master Sonex

B.t.w : I have read the threads..

I feel you. I'm at the end of my rope right now. I decided to go to college finally (after 5 years out of highschool) and I'm taking all online classes so I have the option to sit on my PC all day if I wanted (which I pretty much do already). I want to start getting serious about monetization online. In the past I tried all the "get rich quick" methods and half-assed them all in hopes to literally get rich quick lol. I'm 22 now and in serious need of dough. I'm gonna buckle down and work on something until I make some damn money!

Go to school dude. Don't depend on random online income.

Shoot me a PM I'll hope you open a shop.

I'd honestly look into affiliate marketing. Everyone believes that it's a saturated way to earn online. It's still one of the most effective and efficient ways to do so.

The only way you'd need to use that $40 is to purchase a host and domain (you don't even need to, to be honest). It's just more reliable if you do.

I've worked with websites for over a year, I know how is that. You build a website, buy domain & hosting, and NO ONE enters it for fuck sakes. That's why I'm here asking.

It comes down to SEO and how well you drive traffic to your website. Just because you have a website doesn't mean people are going to find it and enter it. You have to drive traffic and you need to give them a reason enter and stay.

What are your interests? Can you not start a website and write about your expertise on something, this will always bring in cash. Like for example say you were a tennis expert and loved the game, you could start writing all about the game of tennis, and you could then add tennis products with affiliate links to retailers in a price comparison table. Something like this is always a good option, just remember it can take months to see any results but you just have to keep plugging away at it.

It's hard to tell you what to do as nobody knows anything about you, you just need to choose a path and go for it, make sure it's something that interests you or you will get very bored and give up after a few weeks/months.
