Thread: Found a very interesting AI named HAL

As stated above, I was looking around, and found an old AI project for a robot called HAL (can be found on the zabaware website, free trial or 29.99 for the whole thing)

There was a plugin page for it, but it got taken down, the cool thing about this AI is that it can be programmed to do many things, but I do not have the talent to do anything major such as making plugins or developing a new brain, if you guys make any plugins or brain code and post it, that would be great. I am curious to see what we can do with this program as a community ?

Beware when using HAL. It is known for sacrificing the owner for the greater good.
