Thread: Outlook Web App 2010 Brute Force/password crack?

Gone4Ever - February 14, 2016, 1:05 pm

Heey HF, like the title says, is there a way to obtain a pass, or log in on a mail, Tnx in advance ;)

Could you explain alittle further for me. If you mean where to get a bruteforce tool for it then I can point you in the right direction. If you want a program to some how hack the email for the password that would be a long shot.

If you have any questions about brute forcing feel free to ask me, I know my fair share about it.

first, tnx for your reply and time ;), i was looking for a bruteforce "program"
or maybe a otherway to obtain the pass or get into the mail from a person.

trying to hold this thread alive! anyone knows one?

OWA does not have any default lock outs, a generic cracker should work for this w/ a good PW list.

Outlook is just a mail client.. aka you just sign into it with your email address.. You wouldn't be able to bruteforce it but you could just check what email they're trying to use to sign in.

once you know if it's hotmail, Gmail, yahoo, etc., you could use SE (Social Engineering) to try to recover the password.

For exampe if it's hotmail contact support and try to recover the account. You could also bruteforce but that's more of a last option kinda thing

He's right^^

I didn't realize you were talking about OWA.

Mate you're posting in threads that have been dead for YEARS.

I sent you some info in your convo. Please stop spamming.

I can't do private messages as I do not have 25 posts. And I am massively under time pressure - thats why I am spamming - to unlock the private message tool. So sorry for this.
