Slightly off-topic, but why are groups so expensive?

And why do people not grudge paying that much, I mean, do they make that money back or what?

There's only a certain amount of groups. It's very unlikely that more groups will ever be made.
Therefore they'll most likely stick at the price they're at, and people will pay that much either to form a group to profit off or make a successful group for the enjoyment and to make money at the same time, then they'll be able to resell when they want.

Simple logic

If you use a Bit of Brain its possible to make money of groups + you can sell it anyday you want

For profit ofcourse but Prices seems to have went down a bit these days

Mcdonalds 3x a day sounds nice and from what I have heard - meth might fuck you up but the high is amazing.

I'm not serious about wanting to implement either. I hate McDonald's food, and I lost an uncle to meth; I'm just being light-hearted about it. I'm just a tad bit envious because I can't even afford to have my weekly family taco night because I have no money for food that isn't dirt cheap like sandwiches, ramen, egg based meals, and other low-cost stuff.

will the blacklist carry over? what can I do to get blacklisted from the new group?

The GRim - February 19, 2016, 10:53 pm

Haven't even formed the group and yet so many jobless haters.

Don't you fucking losers have anything better to do.
