Why not crop the photo if you wanted only the doorway to be visible?

In my opinion, I think it would look nicer if you raised the exposure to have a bit of the wall lit up.

How did you do those photographs with the lights? The circle ones.

Nice long exposure shots on your flickr. I love IMG 6001. Great shot. I kind of agree, a better cropping and this photo overall is nice. I like it.

Steel wool and long exposure ?

Also, I had that photo cropped to go as my twitter background. But I will crop it better.

I love this photo.. don't know why.

It just look so mysterious.

Looks like you were experimenting with light painting right, it's a cool hobby.

As I do it myself.

I don't see any light painting.. that's from the flood lights above the door.

I like this. I think you could possibly lose some of the darkness/black space at the top, but overall it's nice, and draws your attention directly to the centre.
