So, writing ton of useless papers is my hobby. My nonsense could be any genre.

But I have one feature... If I really want to create something...hm..no doubt I won't stand a chance of finding god fc%n dm&!%ed inspiration. How I deal with it?

My mad mind makes orgasmic creatures only when Im punching tacos, picking my nose, running backwards, washing up and any other common st.

Today, as usual, I was making a regale - my signature dish (bread-meat-bread (and meat, more meat)) and I....choked... . I was frustrated by the fact of WASTED butty, but Augustine's (do not confuse with Augustiner) divine revelation: a huge multiuniverse with a such hard plot as Duke Nukem's balls are.

PS. nevermind what kind of s%&*! I wrote above. Fact is a fact. Im pretty much to create something amazing (subjective personal opinion). It'll consist of an interweaving of cultural, religion, common sense beliefs, historical facts; multilevel multiuniverse (like marvel eh?).

Why I decided to post it there?

1) was surfin hf

2) one of key characters is a hack-boy :)

Never published my papers, but I suppose that'll be the first one :)
