That's something you would need to agree with the buyer of your group. I won't enforce that.

If you want to sell your group make a thread. In the thread state that payment will be escrowed through me.

Best of luck to you.Starting bid price: $6,000

Increments of bids: $100 USD or higher

Buy it now: $6,500 USD

Be approved by Omni

Don't forget that $250 fee to Omni

I accept Bank Transfer & BTC (escrowed via Omni).

Nearly every single member of the group would have a closed account if we performed everything on-site.

I'm not worried about an escrow or anything, it's just much easier as a bank transfer.

I have a 0% warning level and no open scam reports, I'm obviously not inside Omniscient's head but I don't personally see any issues he would have.

Don't mistake this for anything more than a slight interest though.

There's quite a number of advantages of buying a group, some people do it for marketing schemes, bigger e-penis, establishing yourself as a verified source(you lay $8k on the line for a group, if you're planning on running with petty cash. Best assume you'll be loosing that $8k.), starting your own little community of HF addicts, recruiting other members who work in the same field as you or take interest in the same field and a bunch of other reasons. Let your imagination fly, owning a group makes anything possible. People flood you with services just to get in for the userbar and hang with the cool kids etc.

Well it's true to trust no one, but if you know someone IRL, you really think they would rob you over 7k? IMO it's just business and close friends who get hung up on trusting each other with money aren't good friends. Either way anything can happen and trusting someone is a risk and up to you if you want to take it or not. The same time I want Null to be sold so you can make the transaction since it seems like your done with it (or need money, etc...) I want it not to get sold. It's an amazing group and would this change it's current members? Or is that all up to the new owner.

Good luck on selling this Null was a good group.

Nobility - May 29, 2016, 7:19 pm

Still selling taking offers starting at $6k

Juan The Young Chef Don - May 29, 2016, 7:26 pm

Good luck with the selling of this group mate.

Nysta - May 29, 2016, 7:42 pm

Good luck with selling this group, hope it's put in the right hands

Kyle1995 - May 30, 2016, 7:48 pm

How would you feel about 6k you pay the transfer fee?

RumbleFrog - May 30, 2016, 8:35 pm

Still for sale, someone buy it already lol.

group price is quite unstable atm with Omni recently selling a new one.

Then Omni also stated he thinks current prices are too high.

So that's probaly why, I suppose most buyers are holding off to see if more changes in the group landscape too bad to see Null go, would buy if I had the money, groups are always a great investment.

Bumping this once again, taking offers starting at $6k.

Orchid - June 5, 2016, 7:38 pm

Good luck with selling this, very high quality group, great members, and they know their shit.

Anyways nobility good luck as always ~ orchid

'originalmobz - June 5, 2016, 11:15 pm

Good luck with sales OP. Hope whoever buys this will be a productive leader and not be someone everyone will regret tbh.

Anarchist07 - June 6, 2016, 5:29 am

Is this still up for sale? Thought somebody would've bought this group already, good luck with getting it off your hands though Nobility.

There are probably a lot of people out there like me that would love to take over such a group, but don't have the cash to front for it. I'd certainly be willing to buy null, but I am definitely not putting up thousands of dollars for a group at this point in my life.

It's still for sale.

If groups were under a grand I feel as if alot more people would buy them and there would be a lot more interesting groups around. It's just a shame people with good ideas don't have the wallet for this kinda stuff.

While I fully agree with your statement, I feel as though there is no way to directly combat this issue because as soon as the price goes down, the pretigious value of a group is removed and that is when they become a basic grouping style that 99% of forums have these days.

Never the less

I am so F*cking interested on who buys this group, its a bloody good one...

Best art, High rep & lets be honest, Null is worth more then nill

Even if the price were to drop to 1-2 grand they would still be prestigious in my opinion.

The artwork and logos etc is not part of the deal. You don't get to keep the branding. Null as a group still continues to operate separately off-site.

It's only been a little over 3 months since this thread has been posted? Seems like it's been like 6 months. Honestly not horrible... some groups have taken much longer to sell. It's just about those who are interested having the money. Sadly, not a lot of people on HF who are interested in groups have the cash.

I'm definitely interested, I heard Omnis about to drop a new group though and I'm not planning on buying a group right before the supply grows.

null/red lions probably the two groups i respect. i hate how the prestige has dropped for groups in general and it's all just buy-ins now.

depending on the traffic history of hf i may or may not be interested. ill let you know.

Says the guy who owes me $300 from months. Karma's a bitch. I'm pretty you sure you and your family will get fucked over sooner or later and I really hope that happens.

I really do know this isnt my business etc etc

I am a nobody etc etc

Iv seen it all before...

But why did you need to add this? Its obvious it is just going to cause a conflict.

Take whatever beef you have with this guy somewhere private and not here, as a group leader one would think you would know better.. and also not speak about a man and his family in such a horrible way. Green numbers mean nothing when you portray yourself in ways such as this.
