Fingers crossed.

Hope Zack Cockryder wont fuck this up.

Watchmen and Man Of Steel were decent movies but so long and exhausting to watch, but damn I liked both of them.

What do you think?

YinYang - February 27, 2016, 4:07 pm

I don't think there are man ways they can make this movie.....good imo

it will just be a hyped up drag

Pure nerdgasm. I like the cinematography already.

supernatural - February 29, 2016, 3:28 pm

Seriously without even watching this movie ... how could Batman defeat Superman in a fight?
Sure, Batman is a master of hand to hand combat, deception, and a high fighting IQ.

Superman is just borderline godlike. Fucker can shoot lasers out his eyes. He can fly. He can stand in front of a train unphased. He can take a brutal beating and be unphased.

The real question is is Batman capable of delivering enough of an onslaught to take out Superman?

I say, nope.

Same.

I had the same experience with Watchmen and MoS.

I couldn't watch past 1 hour of both movies without getting bored the first time I saw them. But eventually after some time you really get into it, and hell, you start to see things u missed the first time and shit gets really interesting.

In my opinion Watchmen is one if no the best Comic-superhero movie ever made.

Eleg - March 4, 2016, 2:26 pm

Would be awesome just like the comic series but I don't think they'll be able to catch as much ground as they did in the comic series. I mean currently first question would be or should be in everyone's mind, why are Superman and Batman fighting against eachother? Aren't they together in Justice league as well?

Trailers are good hope the movie would be as good as we are expecting it to be.

? If you watched the animated movie "Batman: The Dark Knight Returns" it would shed some light, also I'm sure he gets kryptonite from Lex because he clearly blocks a punch from Superman. Also Superman won't use lethal force (unless he does in this movie) so it's an advantage Batman will have. In comics and cartoons Superman very rarely uses any where close to his max power as he doesn't want to destroy anything or hurt anyone he doesn't have to.

I linked a video I've always liked of Superman breaking his code of ethics, grated he is a powerful as the writers make him (so infinity). Also not every Superman is the same in terms of movies, comics, animated series, etc.

It really doesn't appeal to me tbh. Don't get why they are fighting why can't it be Batman on his own. In the Christian Bale batmans at least it was more realistic with the Lambo and stuff where as now got flying spaceships that is so poorly CGI edited. If you have read them and know the characters, well - may the lord have mercy on your soul.

SkullCandy - March 29, 2016, 1:45 am

It was good, more like a comic-book batman than the Christopher Nolan one was and overall it had a nice feel. It felt more like the Dark Knight Returns which is my favorite animated movie of all time - I am so excited for the Killing Joke, the novel was so good!

I liked it more than the 1st and 3rd Christopher Nolan movies, all the previous live-action Batman movies and the Man of Steel; so it is worth the watch. It got me excited for more of a Justice League vibe - but tbh Suicide Squad will be a lot better :) Joker is back and again - this time it is more of a comic book vibe with Jared Leto!

dwarak17 - March 31, 2016, 1:12 am

After so many bad reviews, I went to see this film with open mind and thinking "this is just the usual critics phobia to superhero movies". But I'm afraid I have to agree with most of them. I'm really disappointed with Batman vs Superman. The first hour and a half it's just a mess. Snyder wants to tell so many things that it becomes a chaos, really hard to follow. The last hour is just decent but could be much better. The characters are just plain, even the main ones. The secondaries just passed through to say "hello" and "goodbye". It think the major problem, and happened too in Man of Steel it's the way Snyder likes to tell the story with jumps to this and that without justification, just for the purpose to say this is "my style". And the screenplay it's just awful.

So I just ask to Warner to change him and the screenwriters for Justice League I and II or this will end the same way. And they will pay it in the box. Hope this is a complete "fiasco" in box-office so they realize that this man it's just destroying the franchise. I would propose Ben Affleck as director. He is with Cavill and may be Gadot they only to save a little in this movie. And after all, Ben have 2 Oscars, one as director and another as screenwriter. How many has won Snyder? NONE. And yes, preproduction it's finishing and they will be filming starting next month, but I think they should delay the production some months and rethink it or it will be another disaster next year.

It's an okayish movie. It just got overshadowed by Marvel's excellent storyline movies. If not for Marvel, Batman vs Superman would have had better reviews.
