Sadly I am new to photoshop and fucked up the background color so they don't match HF's background color, but I have the .psds saved still so Ill edit them out tomorrow or when I get the time.. :(But Id still like to hear what you all think about these?

For some reason I cant get them in my signature, dunno if I need to be upgraded maybe?? :(

But ye, take a look and tell me what you think ?

I think the all look good, but if i have to choose i would say first set are better, theyre just easier to read.

Yea I get what you are saying :)

I choose a pretty bold font.. Actually I think I will make another version too with another less fat and bold font.

Thanks for the feedback ?

Looks cool, the thin part of the d could be a little bit bigger in my opinion. No, you don't have to be upgraded to wear a sig, but you can't wear a sig showing a picture I think.

The font makes it a little too hard to make out what the letters are. A simple fix would be to have a more readable font. Be careful with how you utilize drop shadow/stroke, as in this case some colors can conflict with the outer black as they become more incomprehensible to read.

Thanks for some constructive feedback :)

Apreciate it!

I get what you are saying too, I am currently working on finding another not so bold and unreadle font which would look great with this kinda theme if you could call it that :D

I think they look nice, especially if you are new to photoshop. I would suggest maybe a thinner / clearer font to help make out the letters a bit more. I;m not sure if it is the same on here, but if you completely delete the background and save it as a .PNG, you won't actually need to worry about the background colour matching HF's background because it will instantly take on the colour of what it is placed on to.

Those are really nice, I personally would remove the drop shadow.

Thansk for the feedback ?

Will try to play around with the shadow alittle, altho its not drop shadow its a black copy of the text so theres plenty of ways to play around with it yet :D
