Thread: Revise for exams

Chubs™ aka badman - February 29, 2016, 9:59 am

Well in about 3 months time I have exams coming up and I want to start revising for English and maths but I don't know what good places there is to revise the both subjects. I live in the uk.

Google what topics you need help with, there's ton of tutorials. When I used to have trouble with something I would just look it up online and watch a video or read a website on how to do it. Use your resources and don't make it harder than it should be, the internet has everything and can help you out a lot!

Good luck.

What level are you? Alevel Gcse? What exams will you be taking, being in a brtiish curriculum I strongly advise you to look at past exam papers.

Check out www.sharepapers.com for the biggest database of notes and papers etc. You will thank me later.
