There are tons of great ones on here mate, Just Search on hf: Hackpack

OP be careful with Hack Packs, many are compiled by many who either did not know or intentionally supplied malicious infectious code.

Care and caution should be utilized when using hack packs. always Sandboxie or Virtualize it.

Hack packs are a joke, honestly you may as well put Kali Linux on a USB and learn how to do what you want on Kali. Kali was actually created for pentesting stuff of the like.

I agree with Armada here.

Downloading a hackpack is often not a good idea, especially from a place like HF.

They will most def be rigged with malware.

I recommend starting with an Operating System like Kali Linux.

This is free to DL and has a great community backing it.

It has so many inbuilt hacking tools for sniffing, cracking, sql injection, social eng, brute forcing etc. Download Kali and start with Aircrack for wireless cracking and perhaps Metasploit for vul analysis/attacks.

These are just some suggestions.

GL :)

OP now that I think of it, you might want to consider my Hack Lab

It I believe is exactly what you are looking for. An isolated secure virtualized environment with pre built in hack pack and diagnostic software all inclusive.
