Thread: How to grab "Anyones" IP Address on FaceBook Easily!

[Video: https://youtu.be/Z3qp5E_MG-w]

Text Tutorial:

- 1.) Register or sign into <http://skidtools.net>
- 2.) Go to the IP Logger menu item then click it.
- 3.) Select IP Logger method as "Redirect to URL"
- 4.) As "Redirect URL" you can find a fake image. In most scenarios, it has to be a 'direct' link to the image so in my case i just re-uploaded the image to imgur and put a direct link to it.
- 5.) Save then generate a new IP Logger link - in case fb has cached it already.
- 6.) Copy/paste the IP Logger URL, to your victim. Before sending, make sure facebook parses the url as 'imgur'. Once they did that, you are ready to go (click send/enter).

Once the victim clicks the image, to expand it. It will open the IP Logger & instantly redirect the user to the image, the user will not notice this.

The IP Logger will attempt to determine the OS, Browser & Location of the user instantly. You can also store IP's rather easily, in the "IP Storage" tab :)

Basically, the idea behind this is to make facebook 'parse' or check your ip logger url. Facebook will notice there is a redirect, it will then appear as a image on facebook.. 99% of the users - will click the image to expand it. Once that happens, it logs the IP Address - INSTANTLY!

In case the user is "smart" and checks the url by hovering the image - it will be url encoded which makes it a little hard to notice. Also the url is also a clone domain of <http://prnt.sc/> so it's not really noticeable unless you do some deep research on it.

The IP Logger has also tons of other options, it also reloads automatically and gives a small notification once someone has been logged :)

Nope. Not that I am aware of at least.-- exod - March 28, 2016, 3:52 pm

how is this supposed to even work it's the same shit as making a web page on some free hosting website and adding ur own IP logging php script. But what i just said doesn't work and this method shouldn't either because when u talk to someone on facebook the connection between u two isnt peer2peer.

P.S. : I didn't try this but i am not sure i will either since what i said kinda makes sense already.

Autocorrect - March 28, 2016, 3:53 pm

Note to newbies: pls don't try this on HF.

You get closed. And maybe reopened.
