Thread: Lewd.sx - anime shitposting family since 2014.

Lewd.sx - More than just another forum.

Looking for a community where you can feel at home, regardless of your gender, sexuality, race, whether you like anime or not, or any other characteristic you can experience needless hate for? Well, you've come to the right place.

Lewd is one of the few communities out there that everyone can feel welcome as long as they're kind to the other members.

What does Lewd offer that most communities do not?

Besides being a place that anyone can relax, Lewd is one of the most actively developed forums out there, with great new (and unique) features being released on a regular basis, all coded by myself (meaning money isn't an issue).

I don't want your money! Absolutely nothing on Lewd costs money: There are no donor ranks.

Custom usergroups are free for everyone.

I don't ask for donations.

A 100% custom theme. As the theme is 99% coded from scratch (most of MyBB's default templates have been replaced with my own HTML), it stands out among the crowd of forums with their themes that derive from the default theme.

Custom plugins. As I've worked as a PHP developer in the past, I find it relatively easy to add new, custom features to Lewd.

People from all over the internet. Unlike some other communities, I don't just advertise on other forums, I regularly pay for advertising on other large websites; bringing in a diverse crowd of people.

In the end, no matter how many words I use to describe Lewd, the best way for you to experience how wonderful our community is, is to experience it for yourself.

Seems alright and pretty good looking. Active so there's plenty of content for new users.

I don't use forums (apart from hackforums of course) but this one rates well.

PurpleIsAColor - March 4, 2016, 10:11 am

Pretty nice forum, I've been member for a while even though I haven't posted a lot.
I'm not really into anime.

Quote:I'm not really into anime.

It's surprising that quite a lot of people on Lewd don't like anime and are mainly a member for the community.

The latter. The former would be nice though.

Just gonna take the time to say that this is an A1 forum. Most communities these days are based around growing something just to sell. I'm happy that you took initiative and created a friendly community where you don't get jew'd out with basically-mandatory donations and other stupid restrictions.

Not sure why these people are using shitty TLC's for their website.

You can tell it won't last and doesn't interest people in joining.

you're literally the most retarded user i've seen on HF so far.

gets a little quiet over the weekends, but the level of activity is great; not to mention, you're missing a few threads in private groups.

more serious discussions are had on the forum, while the majority of our shitposting is done in our discord server.

you're just used to joining forums where the owner cares more about the post count more than the community _ (?) _

no, but nice try!! hackforums is the only forum i'm a part of that glorifies profile stats so much. i've also been a member of lewd since late 2015-ish? and check up on it every once in a while. after a bit i get bored of sifting through all of the generic crap being posted and the frustration of realizing most people in your anime section have bad taste. \_(?)_/

Spoiler \(Click to View\)hf isn't any better btw. AA is full of normies!

things are still kicking at lewd, one of the very few forums that last over a year.

we've now reached a milestone of 60k.

Probably one of the best designs I've seen on an anime forum, did you make it yourself? Or did you purchase it from someone/somewhere

Looks like a pretty quality forum though.

Nice to see lewd is still going strong. New design looks nice though I must admit I expected a bit more from the buildup of it but it's still fresh nonetheless.

There's still more to come!

The buildup took far too long because I struggle with finishing old projects because new projects are always far more exciting.

Yeah that's a concept I understand all too well lol, well, I'll be around to see what you come up with next.

Kudos for keeping Lewd up for so long though, I'm a big fan of the community you've got. I think it's cool for a small forum to have people who still come and post here and there without leaving with the "this is going no where" mindset.
