Thread: Why do people like these stupid shoes?

Oliver Sykes - March 4, 2016, 8:58 pm

I mean, seriously. Why would you ever buy a pair of shoes that look like your blind great-grandmother knitted with her toes?

There wouldn't be a "sneaker market" if people didn't buy them because of their outrageous price in the first place.

Deany - March 4, 2016, 8:59 pm

Because it's a trend, and people follow those.

I thought you were going to post an pair of Jordans, I personally like the Yeezy shoe because of the knitted pattern and how it just stands out also its a very comfortable shoe.

As for Jordan's i just think they suck and are a poor quality shoe with an inflated price, Just my opinion.

Then don't buy them, you fucking moron. Unless you buy specialized shoes for stepping through massive puddles, no shoe is going to work for you, so this is not a valid argument against Yeezys.

I wouldn't call most normal non-yarn shoes specialized.

Raf Simons - March 5, 2016, 2:09 pm

There are three reasons most of you don't like Yeezys.

You do not comprehend nor enjoy fashion, so you can't understand why you'd spend money on a quality shoe when you can get a functional shoe for less. This is by far the most logical reason to dislike them as ignorance is better than outright stupidity.

You can't imagine them looking good because you probably wear bootcut jeans and walmart t shirts, so you automatically assume they cannot look good ever.

You dislike Kanye, for one reason or another.

Most of the 350 colorways are really nice, not to mention the actual quality of the stitching, boost sole, etc... is fantastic. And the price isn't even that absurd.

If you want to see an expensive, ugly shoe that people with money but no style love to buy, google "gold Giuseppe Zanotti sneakers"

(Mar 5, 2016 03:05 PM)Oliver Sykes Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I wouldn't call most normal non-yarn shoes specialized.

What shoes do you wear? Bc I'm sure they're either made for water or they handle water just as bad as any other shoe.

And my argument still stands. If you're in that situation, don't buy the fucking shoe. No one is forcing you. You don't need to hate it just because it isn't the shoe for you.

I dislike them because it's a crazy price for shoes that I find aesthetically repulsive.

And I have some pair of "sport-style" New Balances. Water doesn't get in and mud can be wiped off. They also don't look terrible and are moderately comfortable. They're not $20 Walmart shoes, but they're not $3k either.
