no x64 file support :(but the system is x86(32bit) and the file also(virtual machine):
"%windir%/explorer.exe"

Issue could be you running x64 VM, check the file at %windir%/explorer.exe on your VMware it should be x64 executable.

ok, if icon is only what you need from the x64 file then you can dump the icon first and use it with pec.

If I clone the certificate, the certificate will be detected as invalid right?

ng-Coder - March 8, 2016, 3:25 am

Yes ofcourse the Certificate hash won't match when computed, but viewing the file will show the file has legit certificate.

I have a question @ngCoder:

Do I use this to change icon before crypting?
Or
Do I crypt first before changing icons?

Both ways should work just fine, but you're not supposed to change icon before crypting because 95% of crypters won't preserve the icon and all that will fetch you is bigger PE size.

What does the "PE" stand for in PE Cloner?

I downloaded PE cloner and scanned it on ScanMyBin.

I got 9/20 detection. So its a virus.

Check out the link.

(aHR0cHM6Ly9zY2FubXliaW4ubmV0L3Jlc3VsdC9kZmRhMjNkMDcxMTNjNTQ4YzU1NTQwODQxMDk1N2E5MzRhNzQyZjY2OTA4ZjdjNDdlNzUwYWVWNkMDQzMWFjZTNj)

Its encoded in base64 as I can't post links. So just decode it

What is the meaning of the "PE" in PE Cloner?

Thanks

PE: "Physical Executable" also known as an .exe file

Those detections are generics in case you didn't notice, so...no it is not a virus.

Nice tool..very handy -thx ?
