Deface pages.

Yes, the 'leave your mark' after exploiting a website.

Anyways, head to google - search "hacked by" then choose one of the names/alias, view all the results on google, if the website has fixed itself since, just view the cache :)

- Who can find the coolest deface page used, who can find the ugliest one :) I vote legitbytes as the ugliest one

Here's a vid with a few pages.

That was the idea behind the thread, to find some dank templates and maybe someone can offer a service for a deface page creation?

Could be a good way to earn some cash on HF

Yeah.

I used to deface pages, but I just left a word in the top center on a white background. Never any word in particular, just used a word generator and pasted it there.

You can change the colour of text to match an image and do a little trickery on PS / Illustrator to make these sorts of pictures.

There are also tools out there to do it I imagine.
