Thread: [Hacked my school. Should I worry? \[UPDATE\]I didn't get caught!!](#)

HitSweMan - March 13, 2016, 9:53 am

Please, I already know I'm stupid and I should just kill myself for this.

I'm in a bad position now and I need your help :!
I'll add a TL;DR in the end!

It all started when my friend said to me that his friend could access the school website. This website is nothing like other school websites. The website let teachers post the plans we have for the week (or further).

For example all the test we have coming and the work we have to do and all the deadlines. I'm in 8th grade. I tried to find anything I could about the website. I hacked the DB. Nothing useful there. I then found the panel by a simple google search. The website has no password at all. A Google search and I got the link to change it. I just told 2 of my friends, nothing more. After a good amount of time (2months) I thought why not explaore it more. I found a Admin button in the corner. It redicted me to a login page, on the login in page it said in the top that the password was a. I'm not kidding! It said: "Password is a"

I tried it and it worked. I was in the real panel. I wass tupid enough to select all classes and pressed the remove button. I later on figured out that I deleted all the plans. Everything. You can't access it at all and everything is down. All this happend on the school network with my login credentials and on my school iPad. I proceed to remove everything on my iPad and did a factory reset.

Now I'm afraid that I will face legal charges. I feels so bad I almost vomit. I'm not trying look cool since anyone with a brain knows this is just plain stupid. It will take alot to redo all the plans.

Instead of bashing me for this stupid move can anyone try to be nice to help me out of this. I've been wathcing alot of videos on how to lie if they want to talk to me. The good thing about this is that I have not told anyone but you guys about this. Can anyone help me?

Look's like another guy hacked his schools website and faced leag charges and had to pay half a million swedish crowns... He even confessed he did it but still ahd to pay and he did no damage to the system... My lord. What should I do ?

TL;DR

I hacked my school's website. Not a huge website just contains the plans for the future. All deadlines and test that is coming. Now I know this is bad and I need help to myself through this.

Thank you guys.

2077 - March 13, 2016, 9:55 am

Pretty sure your school has a backup of everything and you shouldnt be worrying so much about it.

No sorry, I must bash you, because this is the stupidest idea that you've ever came up with.

No point in lying or even trying to. You can't travel back and erase the mistake, but what you can do is admit to what you've done as there is nothing you can really do.

He said he's in 8th grade so I'm guessing quite young.

Elweth - March 13, 2016, 10:02 am

Just be honest if they found you. You're probably safe, given you're still young.

JCTriton - March 13, 2016, 10:07 am

Remove all your school work from your account and then run to a teacher saying someones hacked your account and everything is gone, then they will believe someones been on your account so you can just blame student X for also fucking up the school website.

HitSweMan - March 13, 2016, 10:07 am

I'm 14. I'm in 8th grade. You can only face charges if you are under 15. I'm safe. They may have backups. They should have.

It's alot fo school work. Thanks for the idea but I don't thinmthat will work and all teh work is on Google Drive so it's on the cloud + it would be stupid. They know me well enough to know that I won't be hacked.

Disgusting - March 13, 2016, 10:08 am

If you're from Sweden (your name gives it away if you are) then you could be fucked, im not trying to make you feel bad but there was another guy here that saw a breach in a town's website and warnede some guys about it and he had to pay 60000$ just because he was in their system. If you know the school principal and teachers well just say that you saw a breach and accidently removed everything or something like that and that you just wanted to warn that people could hack it, idk.

They know me and I could do it. That's a goopd idea. Maybe I should actually. I'm very good friend with him. I will consider it.

Varane - March 13, 2016, 10:11 am

You are quite young, i highly doubt there will be a tough punishment if you get caught.

Not from the law but my family. I'm wondering if my mom and dad could end up paying.

Just looking at the system, it was bad and proably atleast 10 people browsing the website as tyhe same time I was. I used a teacher code aswell.

The dilemma. I could tell them I accidentally removed everything and they will maybe take it light then or they wonät find me at all.

I could get away with it if I'm lucky. Do you guys think I should wait and if nothing happends or if they talk to me I'll say it was me?

Maybe they think it's better if I come to them without them asking.

I need your help guys!

Go up to the principal and confess vs Confess if they want suspect me vs Hide it as good as I can and they move on.

What should I do :l

Cyaddd - March 13, 2016, 12:43 pm

Damn, you're 12 and can hack your schools website? Respect

GG123 - March 13, 2016, 12:47 pm

Well erm. First of all I hope you used some sort of VPN when doing all this. Secoundly DONT TELL ANYONE who goes to your school. Thirdly Act casual and they should find out its you.,

And I gotta give props to you cause ur young as fuck and can hack into a website. GG

Ive in this TYPE of situation before but a little less harsh than this. I was caught smoking. When I was caught, I just made up some bullshit like "my friends told me and it was my first time" "I messed up real hard and I promise I promise you this will never happen again" fake cry

I got away with a 1 week exclusion ^

jujuger - March 13, 2016, 12:52 pm

OP you should post about it on HackForums (should be called FedForums)

Honestly don't worry, as long as you were not signed into your Google account and you were on the SCHOOL'S WIFI AND NOT YOUR HOME WIFI. You should be 1000% safe

The only mistake is posting about it on HF, the site is ran by feds

TRUST ME OP DO NOT FUCKING CONFESS. THEY WILL NOT FIND OUT YOU DID IT IF YOU DIDN'T FUCK UP

RumbleFrog - March 13, 2016, 12:53 pm

Highly doubt they're going to find out unless you are super uncareful, middle school tech staff are all idiots, the worst outcome would most likely a 5 days suspension, at least that's what it is at my high school.

N1nj4Styl3 - March 13, 2016, 12:59 pm

I doubt if this is all true to be honest.

Mastery - March 13, 2016, 12:59 pm

You're in middle school. They won't do anything and I'm almost certain they won't waste their time/money trying to hunt you down. So calm down. If this was highschool or university, it would be a different story.

Don't do anything this stupid again though.

SIM-2212192 - March 13, 2016, 1:01 pm

Don't tell anyone.

Destroy the evidence.

When asked deny it and keep it cool.

Just pretend nothing happened, it'll blow over soon.

Do yourself a favor and stop worrying, you shouldn't worry about what you can't control.

Gavin Belson - March 13, 2016, 1:03 pm

Buddy calm down, they will have a backup of the plans, you haven't broken any laws as you say that the password was on the control panel page, and if you really wanna lie about it say that you have no idea what they are talking about and that you left you iPad out when you were playing sports or something and someone must had done it on your iPad and they will have no evidence to say otherwise, but most importantly you are 12 or 13 you are not going to prison and you won't be charged, worse case you get suspended from the school but even then they have to prove you did it. Which is unlikely considering the IT department is stupid enough to publish the login on the webpage itself, so they are really gunna struggle to track you down.

In summary calm down its gunna be fine.

1tap - March 13, 2016, 1:03 pm

Just try not to fuck anything up, and try to forget it lol

HerpToTheDerp - March 13, 2016, 1:05 pm

Most that will happen is probably a expulsion maybe loss of computer privileges. When I was in Middle School I shared a Minecraft launcher with everyone and I had an in school suspension for a day and loss my computer privileges for a month. They don't really do much to you if you are younger if you fuck with their system.

Ninetales. - March 13, 2016, 1:05 pm

Ganja - March 13, 2016, 1:09 pm

You got yourself in quite a situation here. Let me add my 2cents;

1. Stop worrying. IF you get caught your mom and dad will be mad, but all consequences will be gone in like 2 weeks.
2. If you want to try to get away with this: Don't tell ANYONE! ANYONE. In fact, remove this thread.
3. The only way they can link you to this is through your school account right? If their security was as bad as you say they probably won't figure out it was you anyway.

I think you have a good chance to get away with this mate. Anyway, if this start to eat at you too bad just come clean, then its just not worth the sleeploss. Goodluck!

Unkanian - March 13, 2016, 1:10 pm

If you logged into any of your personal accounts or you did something on the computer that can be traced DIRECTLY to you and nobody else, you're fucked.

You are in 8th grade, so you are a minor I am guessing. I would not be to worried, you may get expelled, however I don't think you should be worried about facing major jail time or whatever may be the consequence if you were older than 16.

Meme. - March 13, 2016, 1:22 pm

I was in the same situation some years ago.. I was 13 and broke into teachers' accounts of the electronic register which contains all the school votes, all school students and all the shits like this. I said this to a friend (ONLY ONE) and within two days ALL THE SCHOOL knew that I did this shit. And for "ALL THE SCHOOL" i mean all the school, teachers, secretaries, the headmaster. It was a monday when our class' door was smashed by some cops and they dragged me into the police headquarters (5 mins near the school).. Strangely, I was very calm.. And I simply denied everything. They released me without judgments and I walked into my school when EVERYONE was appeared at the window watching me, and I enjoyed a lot that feeling.

So, KEEP CALM and all will go well.

N1nj4Styl3 - March 13, 2016, 1:24 pm

If.. and ONLY IF.. this is all true.. If I were part of the staff, I would let you stay in school but I wouldn't leave you like that.

Let's point a few facts;

>You found a breach -- Instead of noting it down and then proceeding with your "tests" you went ahead to the next steps.

>You proceeded, found admin panels and stuff -- Instead of noting it down again, you proceeded with fucking up the system.

>You seem like a nice guy with a brain of a 5 year old child who wants to take revenge for not receiving what he asked for.

Conclusion: You fucked up the whole system, schedule & plans, now the staff should re-schedule, add & setup things altogether. Plus, you fucked up all the classes / students.

Forge the staff, they might forgive you.. what about all these parents that want their kids graduate and study and they pay a shitload of cash in taxes/per month for the school?

Punishment: Severe

In school: Yes

P.S: This is just my opinion. I would advise you to leave a note or send an anonymous email mentioning all the breaches and then forget it.

HitSweMan - March 16, 2016, 8:39 am

Thanks for all the lovely repsonse. I usally tell my 2 closest friends about things like this but this time I fucked it up really bad.

I knew from the beginning I had to keep quiet and stay calm. On mondays we usally go though the plans. Everyone was talking about it being down etc.

My friend I tell everything to made a joke and said it was me. It was so dumb I could kill him in the classroom since he almost agve me away.

Almost everyone was mad and you could see the teachers face that they were mad since they could not really do anything about it and it's almost impossible to learn us without the plan since all documents is stored there.

Until now the website is up and they did not even talk to me. As I said before and many told me todo.

Destory the evidence. I did a factory reset and did not tell anyone about it. They think it was a server error or something. Good for me.

Well. I'm good now and I won't do anything there again without realk protection since I was stupid enough to sue my school iPad (LAWL) and on the school network with my login (LLLAWWWL). I should be punished for being that stupid.

Sorry for my bad english. Atleast you understand what happend. Thank you guys for all the support :)

You're a young teen which means your brain is not fully formed and you're prone to impulsive actions without even thinking about the consequences. Maybe secretly talk with an attorney. They usually do a consult for free. I can tell by your post that you are deeply sorry. Don't let what you did become who you are. Don't let it control you. If you do get arrested for it, proceed one day at a time until the consequences are over. For now, just keep moving forward with your life. Make your life have purpose and meaning. Best to you.
