Thread: My overall views and opinions of Hackercraft.. RIGHT NOW

Bay - March 20, 2016, 10:41 am

I like it. I don't necessarily love it yet, but it's definitely earned my attention these past few days.

I love the fact that people aren't just selling their own faction out, and I love the fact that once you can break into someone's base, you have access to their chests.

It makes raiding much more simple. Instead of having to blow up both the base and the chests, you only have to focus on infiltration.

On the other hand, it's been difficult to create a base that is difficult to get into. Because of course, I don't want TheCompany to get fucked over the way we fuck over other factions.

From Day 1, I had TheCompany's recruitment thread open. I didn't make any promises, but I knew we would do some damage on this server.

Quick shoutout to Titans

Quote:Welcome to Titans' Faction recruitment for the HackerCraft server! Titans will crush those who oppose us, build massive bases, and rule over the HackerCraft Factions server! Apply below to join!

Lol moment of silence for that ^

Anyways. Yeah, I got my balance reset to 0 because I used an exploit in the shop. Do I think it was unfair, yes and no. It was definitely fair for me to lose my balance because I'd have complete control over all items.

But on the other hand, 7v2 took most of my shit. Like he took shit that I actually earned legitimately, but what can I say? I deserved that. Either way, it's easy to make it to 90k in a single day. I did so yesterday in like 4-5 hours of playing. (Shoutout to Rebuilders and vurezo)

Needless to say, I think everyone is glad to have Hackercraft back. Because for all of the active players.. what would you be doing if Hackercraft didn't come back? You gotta admit, you'd be a bit less entertained.

I'm really just kind of expressing my feelings right now because the server is down and I really don't feel like playing any other game right now.

--Teaser--

TheCompany is only the beginning. Something new is coming :)

Mangekyo - March 20, 2016, 10:48 am

Agreed. I'm pretty sure no one's selling their faction because there's really no dominant faction out there yet and the server has just started, so no one would buy any yet.

Some issues I see are shop prices (how 2 hours of farming can get you basically anything in the shop easily) and a bit of lag.

Musketeers - March 20, 2016, 11:13 am

It's cool to have obsidian breaker, breaking the original obsidian box pattern.

Somehow I really enjoy the server even if some stuff look broke, but are they ? Just because it's not a copy of v2 doesn't means it's bad. I like this setup so much :3 I have to learn more about tnt.

Suspense - March 20, 2016, 11:16 am

HC has only been up like what... a week now? I can already see a lot of keen players getting stuck into farming, base building and even some occasional raids.

It's looking like positive progress so far. Looking forward to seeing hopefully it continue to grow with players.

Exactly , the raid are nice since you only need to loot chest etc. Economy is well done even if I tough it was bad at first look. Fiber has it.

Nice thread. I've sworn to work and play alone the moment my base got destroyed by my partner. Since then, I've had no problems.

yeah now instead of obsidian boxes we have obsidian boxes surrounded by water

Yes it was HC, however it was before Robust and Peach took over it. I don't think he plays HC anymore as he was banned from the server and the forums.

That an evolution right there. Hybrid Cannon break this setup.

Maybe you should look into making more walls, stop focusing on obby walls, and get better claims. Last time I checked, you guys had 16 claims.

We use 16 claims as a symbol to the old HC claims cap, but yeah. We need to expend (I'm not affiliated with titans).

I'm probably not going to play anymore until an anti-xray plugin is installed.

That's very resource intensive, it's super easy to catch xrayers though, all you need to do is log the ratio of e.g. stone they mine compared to e.g. diamond ore and if the ratio is beyond what can be considered lucky, then immediate action could be taken through an automatic reporting system of suspected xrayers.

We have that but we don't have auto bans yet because they tend to be inaccurate at times.

They have that actually. They can see the amount of diamond you have mined for the amount of stone you have mined etc.

It's not about x-raying for ore, more about x-raying to find someone's base.

no one x rayed to get into your base.

You just happened to not have your chest room claimed. I was simply looking for a way to get into your base by mining against the chunks that you have claimed.

Simple.

It's not necessarily xray. Most hacked clients have chest ESP.

I don't think there's a way to block/discover those.

The placement of your base was bad IMO.

BLURRYF?CE - March 20, 2016, 1:35 pm

Anti-xray to hide base is legitimate concern, albeit probably too resource intensive? Not sure. Crowd funding for more powerful server?

One of the developers already confirmed that it was x-rayed into.

I'd have to see the code to determine how resource-intensive it is.

That's false. Orgy was with me the whole time. I want valid proof of xray.

I'll get an admin to send me some screenshots of you digging from our AFK room (attached to our main room) directly towards our secondary chest room (entirely encased in stone).

Either x-ray or chest esp was being used, both of which are bannable offenses.

i couldnt dig the other direction because that was a claimed chunk i know exactly what youre talking about now, because when we made it to that room we saw that we had to tnt to get into your base.

after getting into your base i saw that you had openings into nearby caves leading directly to your base. if i xrayed, why didnt i just go in from there?

I somehow disagree with the use of alt to boost faction power but apparently it's allowed. If I'm doing that I'm unraidable. Like not kidding.

This could break the fun part of the server but it's make base more secure. My base is 64x64 and I could claim 3 layer of chunk around my base which would render most of the raiding to null... Where the fun part in this ?

Or you remove the ores from economy. Or you combine them with skillable item to sell. Like you have to sell diamond with something else. (not even sure if combination is possible).

If you don't play now, you'll be late in the game even if he was to put an anti-xray system in 2 weeks. That my 2 cents..
