That isn't negative space.

Negative space is when the black and white complement each other in which they create their own relative shape(s).

One of the most basic examples is the two faces and chalice: Spoiler \(Click to View\)

I like this but I'm confused as to how you did it. What medium or program is this?

Thank you guys!
I used Photoshop to make this.

I don't really see the appeal and it doesn't look like something that you would use.

Zeke - March 28, 2016, 1:39 am

Thank you 6ix (:

You don't "use" paintings. I know but I mean as maybe a background or even to just look at it, I wouldn't see any appeal ;/.

Paintings this small can't be used as a background. And your opinion, respect it. Thanks.

Very nice, I love the composition. Great job!

Zeke - March 31, 2016, 3:28 am

Thank you! Glad you like it.
