Thread: [\[Official\] Squad Student Recruitment](#)

Orgy - March 24, 2016, 1:16 am

Squad is a group based around making money online. Its main goal is to gather individuals which are skilled in all possible domains and combining them for the greater cause, which is earning money. A key asset you need to have to be able to join this group is co-operating with other people in a friendly matter.

Everyone who is recruited to the group will be put under a temporary trial status for two weeks. During those two weeks, the student, or recruit, is going to have to prove his or her worth for him to remain in the group, since we're not looking to have members sit around and do nothing. After proving their worth they will be gaining a regular member status which stands as their verification within the group and also proving their dedication to the Squad.

In order for the members to prove themselves, they're going to have to be working under a leader, depending on the sector which they're going to be assigned to, according to their skill set. Once they are a part of that sector, it is their duty to work projects out with the leader which they do believe could be valuable to Squad. Our current sector options include:Whitehat

BlackhatOnly the most experienced and elite members are qualified to join the new Squad blackhat sector. If you have what it takes, you can join a team of elite hackers in a quest to make fat stacks

CodingThe coding subgroup in the squad is dedicated to the many intricacies of computer programming and application development in any and all languages. Come to explore, learn and create with a friendly group of similarly talented and ambitious code monkeys.

Graphics

MarketingHands-on training and mentoring for subjects including but not limited to: Advertising, Sales, Copywriting, Social Influence & Customer Support.

Social MediaTraining and mentoring for anything related to Social Media and/or Social Media Marketing. Including, but not limited it, Instagram, Twitter, Snapchat, Facebook.

Online Accounts

CPAThe Squad's CPA subgroup covers anything from Clear traffic to Adult traffic. We support each other by sharing our knowledge and tools, in a way all of our members will benefit. We are a dedicated subgroup focussed on maximizing all of our incomes.

E-whoring

We are going to be pushing a lot of products on the market within HF but we're not going to be remaining only within HF's boundaries when it comes to making money online.

The recruitment form can be found below, be sure to dedicate time to it. Remember that you shall not PM a leader of the group to check up on your application's status. Post your application below.

Made over $250 off of Ewhoring in 2 weeks

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this spot?

I believe I should fill this spot because I'm very active I'm kind and wont be a douchebag to other members. I'm very helpful and will give members tips and help if they need it. I also can host some giveaways on behalf off The Squad.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad? Yes, I fully understand

Desired Sector(s): Ewhoring or Graphics

Skill-set: I use to code not much anymore (HTML CSS)

I have grown several instagrams and twitters in strange niches but never knew how to make money on them. Thats what I hope to learn

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before? Definitely I went and will be going to a new type of school called a New Tech Network. All work is done in groups.

Desired Sector(s): Social Media

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this spot? Because I don't have a job and if I want to make money Im going to have to learn and work hard myself.

But thats doesn't mean I don't relax and have fun.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad? Understood

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before? Yes, I am currently in The Order so I know how it is to be in a group.

Past work: I have ran multiple game servers and social media accounts. I currently do a service where I grow social media accounts for people and then they keep the account once I grow it to whatever they pay me to grow it till.

Desired Sector(s):

Ewhoring

CPA

Social Media

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)? Well because I have tons of experience in both Ewhoring and Social media. I am currently trying to set up CPA so I have a little experience in that and want to learn a lot more. I can help a lot of people out with ewhoring and social media as well because I am nice ;). I am still learning so some of the members can come and join me in my learning adventure and learn some things with me. This way some of the members can start up some things on hf with me to start making some little cash.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad? Yes, I am online lots of hours a day and can dedicate a lot of my skill sets to some of the members in the group. I also love being in groups because you get an extra section to post stuff in and I just feel special from the people who aren't in the group :P sounds stupid I know. I will also be dedicated my skills to some of the members in the group so that they can have big social media accounts and other things like that.

Age: 19

Timezone: UTC+01:00 (France baguette omelette du fromage)

Skill-set:

I have the basics (because I don't qualify myself as "skilled") in few programming languages such as:

- C
- C++
- C#
- Javascript
- PHP
- HTML
- CSS

I like to create my own algorithms, from simple to "complex"

I freaking love automatisation, because I'm a lazy fuck (let's be honest we all are), I'd spend days making a script/macro to make a task easier

Also some skills with design related things:

- Animations in Adobe After Effect (like those separators I animated) I've been really active in the free graphic section to get better with that software lately, by the way go see my previous work in the section
- Video montage
- Global Designing with photoshop

I guess I'm good at finding ideas too, creativity is one of my qualities, this is why I'm trying to be as good as possible with coding to transform my ideas into actual projects

CPA is slowly being my main interest because of the limitless earnings, I'm getting pretty good at it

Have you worked in a group co-operating environment before?

Yes in a special school with "Peer To Peer Learning", no teachers, the students are their own teachers (like everyone helps everyone and we're one single big brain)

Past work:

I've always been really active on the internet for the past .. 19 years .. and have done many different things, I guess I'm "polyvalent"

But here are the things that might be interesting:

- Stealing accounts in MMO (keyloggers, RAT, stealers)
- Botting in MMO
- Community Manager

Also I've collected alot of android victims once (a 5 digit number) during only few months, but I couldn't find a decent rat to monetize it

Right now I'm still botting in MMO, and trying to make some decent earnings from CPA (which is going pretty well so far)

I don't qualify the rest as "work", I've been doing too many different things

I'm trying to stay as much white hat as possible, depending of the risks

Update: Made this guy's thread design when I first applied to this group

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5206598>

Desired Sector(s):

I can't think about a specific sector yet, I wanna get better in everything, then I'll be able to bring help to basically everyone

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this spot?

I like the idea of sharing ideas and knowledge, like, to make everyone reach their goal
I can bring my knowledge to this group, because we'll be growing together!
Let me spread my wings!

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

Does that mean I won't have time to masturbate anymore
I mean yes, I do

(yes I copied and pasted my post from Divined's first thread what you gonna do about it?)

Username:

My username is Ongoing. Always has been and always will be.

Age:

I'm currently 21 years old.

Timezone:

I live in Ontario, Canada. So, Eastern Standard Time (-5:00).

Skill-set: (This can include everything from white-hat to black-hat.)

I'm very experienced with E-Whoring, social media selling/promoting, as well as online accounts but that ties in with social mediums. If it means anything, I'm also very experience with game server hosting, as I've ran a few very popular servers in the past and plan on opening a website to offer services to HF members. ?

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before?

I have indeed. In order to run game servers, you need to have others working with you so you kind of learn how to work with others in that sort of aspect. Although there may be hiccups, it all works out in the end (most of the time).

Past work: (This can include everything from white-hat to black-hat.)

As mentioned, I've dealt with social media accounts in the past, very heavily to be honest. I used to be very active on another forum and I used to flip accounts almost daily.

I'm also very experienced with E-Whoring. I've made a lot of money in the past and even helped friends make money as well. I helped one of my friends build their first PC in the first week of E-Whoring. I'm not one to brag so that's why I have no threads in the "bragging rights" section.

As for game server hosting. To put things into perspective, I created a server and within the first month, it was ranked in the top 50 servers on CSGO.

Desired Sector(s):

I'd be happy with joining either the E-Whoring sector, Social Media sector or the Whitehat sector.

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)?

I don't really think I'd be better or more deserving to fill any spot, but I could definitely teach others and learn from others as well.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

I do.

SIM-82498 - March 24, 2016, 10:45 am

I would say greyhat. I'm great at social engineering, although I try to make money online legitimately. I've made money on HF via currency exchanges, a few ebooks, exploits, private methods, etc. I'm also skilled in social media and I am decent at graphic design.

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before?

Yes, in the 5 years that I have been apart of this forum I have worked with other members in online businesses numerous of times.

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)?

As I said before, I've been a member for over 5 years. I have a lot of experience selling to the HF community and I have a lot of experience when it comes to monetizing online. I've made money with every single thread that I linked in my past work. Of course, the money was a lot better when I was involved with blackhat activity but I can also make good money by doing legal activity, or activity that isn't too bad such as ewhoring. I'm a hustler by heart. I've been hustling to make money to support myself since I was 13 years old.

Skill-set:

Studying computer science at university. Programming is my main skill. Java, C++, Javascript, Python.

My main interest is creating server side applications that work cooperatively on browsers and as mobile apps.

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before?

I have been forced at university but it was nothing i was passionate about.

Past work: Currently creating a poker site/app. Started so many projects but i usually give up and move onto something which forces me to learn something new.

Desired Sector(s): Coding atm, but I'm very open minded

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)?

Passionate, can learn anything with an internet connection and enough time.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

Within reason of course. I'm still dedicated to completing my degree.

Past work: I owned one of the more successful sub forums on HF back in 2013/2014 and managed at one point over 20 products. Currently working on <http://platinumcheats.net>

Desired Sector(s): I don't see a sector that fits me other than white hat.

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)? I have more experience than most of the people replying here.

Skill-set: This can include everything from white-hat to black-hat.

Skills: Professional Writer and Content Creator

Marketing (Did a lot of marketing from marketing small sites to music bands to local and international countries too). Big experience with CPA.

Languages (Fluently speak English Arabic and Italian. Plus I'm a beginner in Hebrew and Spanish) Professional in Leadership and Management and hard worker under pressure.

Social Engineering- Professional. I've been like 6 years doing online stuff. Did almost every single method out there. And I have a vast experience and knowledge about making money online.

P.s: I'm checking what other members are putting in their applications. If such things count I have many many other skills.

Have you worked in a group co-operating environment before?

I did yeah. Joined many groups before. Most recent was when I made group a while ago of four experience and widely known members on here with the same goal of this one which was making money online. But I was surprised when I found out that even such members are so lazy when it comes to working hard. That's why it didn't work.

Past work: This can include everything from white-hat to black-hat.

Marketed ten bands and one solo dude on social media and offline and got them to the next level. Wrote some articles and won awards for. Plus I sold few for website owners to put on their site back then.

Social engineered many stuff from real and physical object to online money and crypto currency. Tried almost all the methods on the internet since I used to spend like 5 hours per day trying methods. So I can easily know the good and the bad.

Opened a small business in my county where I used to resell items I buy online with 500% profits per item.

I do have many more things but I can remember those right now.

Desired Sector: Whitehat and Social Media

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this spot?

Because I'm a really hard worker especially when it comes to making money online. I also believe that such group will surely do amazing and revolutionary projects since we're all gonna bind our skills together to give a masterpiece. I do have different ideas that also would really be great starters for the group the will surely rock the market either on HF or outside. And I'm sure they would make bank once they're done. Plus I think I'd be better to fill out the spot because I have a long and vast experience about making money online. Thus I can differentiate between stupid time wasting projects and good ones.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

Sure. I would be ready whenever the group needs me. I'll be working hard. And doing my job completely. Plus I would be suggesting ideas and discussing ones too.

Wish this goes well as I've been really searching for a group with such goals. Not a group of dead people.

I live in New England. So, Eastern Standard Time (-5:00).

Skill-set: This can include everything from whitehat to blackhat. I'm very experienced with social media selling/promoting, as well as handling support with sales. I know many languages such as Java, JEE 7, JSF, Prime Faces, hibernate, CDI, Html, CSS, Java Script etc.

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before?

I have indeed. I'm currently working in an IT role. You can imagine working with cross functional teams to meet requirements.

Past work: This can include everything from whitehat to blackhat. I used to be very active on this forum and helped with reselling and product support. I'm also very experienced with coding.

Desired Sector(s):

I'd be happy with joining either the Social Media sector or the Whitehat sector, coding, sales, etc.

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)?

Simply put, I'm the real deal. I've been here for years. Pick me and you won't regret it.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

I do.

Skill-set:

- I can write articles, and make sure they [the articles] are optimized for SEO.
- I'm a quick learner and have no problem asking questions if I don't get something.
- I've dipped my finger in a number of different niches in CPA from education to adult content, you name it I've given it a shot.
- I've done affiliate marketing via clickbank and amazon.
- I can work in a team without trying to show off my e-dick.
- I can manage most wordpress, blogger type of sites.
- I have a grasp on advertising through social media, using redirects, using sites to advertise other sites.
- In adult niche's I can help you find decent [CPM] traffic for decent pricing.
- I write decent tutorials, you can look at my past work to see what I mean.

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before?:

Yeah I just graduated from University, I couldn't have made it through if I wasn't able to work with others. I've also worked on football teams, and on coaching teams, I understand that teamwork is the key to success and that you will have to work with many different individuals.

- I have alot of offline experience, I've had my good times and my bad times. I've had to sell drugs, do retail, at one point I was doing 3 jobs at once to make sure I didn't go into debt for college.
- Also there are certain things I will not discuss being a part of because the statute of limitations has not yet drawn to a close.

Desired Sector(s): CPA

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)?

- I have a genuine willingness to learn and participate in discussion. I'm not afraid to ask questions, and I don't have an ego big enough to hide that I don't know something.
- I have no problem sharing and discussing strategies and looking for partners in my endeavors.
- I am a member of at least 5 big CPA networks, I am always looking for a niche that I can use to make some money.
- I'm not in this for the user bar, I'm here to network with people who have a common goal.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

Yeah that's not a problem, I've been a pretty consistent member here. I don't burn myself out giving all my energy to one project or one cause, I spread it evenly so that I can remain a long term member of whatever it is I have an interest in.

Desired Sector(s): Coding and Graphics

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)?

Because I'm really focused on these sectors, I dedicate most of my time everyday doing coding and graphics, It's like my breakfast, lunch and dinner.

I tend to finish one job at time, and I really do love coding as much as I love doing graphics, these activities makes my day complete, If don't do any stuff like these for a day it will be a complete worn out day for me.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

Yes, as a project leader on my team, Every member should be dedicated on their job, by joining this group I know I will have lots of responsibilities, But I don't mind as long as I help the Squad and make the group grow as much as the community forum.

Thank you.

I can also make "novelty" document scans and know my way around Tor.

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before?:

Yes, I have. I have worked with multiple people in real life in the past on related endeavors but am looking to find more skilled partners.

Past work:

I've done everything you could imagine within my aforementioned skill sets. I specialize in Amazon-related services and scans, both of which I've made decent money from in the past. Here is a DoS/DDoS attack guide I wrote: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3637730>

White-hat or black-hat, but I would much rather black-hat.

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)?

I am better suited to this position than others because I have several years of experience, and have actually made money using my skills. The same cannot be said for the majority of users out there who are entry-level at best and cannot consistently get the job done. When I accept a job, I see it through to the very end and get it done every time. That simple.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

I completely understand and would enjoy such dedication. I currently have a side business fixing peoples' computers and have plenty of time to learn more and make more money, as well as a desire to network with other like-minded individuals.

(BlackHat, if possible) --- CPA is a big part of why I want to be apart of this group. As I will soon be launching GPT site (and dice) MaxCrypyto, a lot of my discussion will be about affiliate networks.

Have you worked in a group co-operating environment before?

In my 6 years of online experiences, I have collaborated with many different types of people.

In my time I've developed and operated many niche blogs, in a team of 4 people we did this for over a year flipping sites. It yielded a major profit until it became boring and the group fell apart.

GPT and Affiliate marketing was a partnership between three people which also went extremely well and again due to offline issues with partners was forced to break apart after 1/2 years of collaboration.

Most recently a BlackHat group were formed around 8 of us, we did a range of things, pumping and dumping was in fact a part of our "antics" as you will. The group no longer exists for all of our own security, it lasted around 8 months and ended just as long ago. One of the most profitable and exciting collaborations to date, that's for sure.

I'm looking to be apart of something new, and hopefully a group full of bright minds and great ideas.

Past work:

Trading is usually where my skill set is located lately. Previous work was flipped or sold. Currently, my work is located at MaxCrypto.com. The very first dice + GPT hybrid in the web, soon to launch!

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this spot?

Honestly, I think I could be a great contribution as I am always ready to teach and help new group members with different skills. As well as being a fast learner, learning new skills and teaching them is definitely a strong point for me and could be an asset for the group.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

Yes, and I am 110% ready to be dedicated to being apart of the group and the tasks that may be bought upon me!.

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before?:

I currently work as a analyst programmer so I am exposed to a co-operative environment on a daily basis. Teamwork is a must for a team to function properly and to be able to meet the common goals of the company.

I used to be parts of many groups on HF here like The Alliance, The Marketers, Red Lions, The Black Knights, The Gamer Crew, etc., so I have an understanding of the values of a group and how to properly represent a group while being active and help each other out.

My past earnings with CPA: <https://imgur.com/a/yHIAq/all>

On the development side, I do not own any of the projects I worked on so unfortunately I cannot share for confidential and security reason.

Desired Sector(s):

CPA

As a programmer I would love to be also part of the Coding sector, however, CPA is the main reason I want to join the Squad.

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)?

I tried to apply on the Squad CPA Recruitment thread, but I'll try my luck here as I genuinely want to start earning back again with CPA and I see this group as a great opportunity for me. Here are the details.

Last time I did CPA was back in 2013. I used many methods of promotion but YouTube was my most profitable one. I discovered within time to better optimize my CPA offers, get better conversion rates and target higher paid offers. For example, I started doing my content in French, not only English. I had less traffic but more income. I was getting ridiculous numbers of $5+ per lead with the French audience.

I also helped dozens of people to start earning with CPA. I shared online my method, ideas, etcetera. I shared them with friends also and personally taught them to a couple ones. One of them today is a successful internet marketer. He makes over a thousand dollar a day. Many of these people were signed under me as referrals and I earned couple of thousands with them.

As of today, I do not do CPA anymore. I stopped for personal problems. I made the decision to work online again and recently I have been doing research and testing various ways to monetize online. I am doing right now forex trading, TeeSpring, etc. but I honestly miss CPA. I want to get back in and I have been researching on the matter for a little while now. I consider myself as an amateur because the "weapons" have changed and I have so much to learn even with my experience. The CPA world is vast and I have only experimented a tiny portion of it. I think being a student in the group would help me get back on track quickly since I have experience and eventually share my knowledge and work on projects with the group!

I am someone who is super friendly and I love to help others if I can. I learn quickly and put in hard work. Most importantly, I never give up, no matter how hard it is. Even if I am not chosen to be part of the Squad, I will eventually find my way back into the CPA world. I have big ambitions!

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

Yes I understand.

Thank you,
Mario ?

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before?

Yes I have worked in a group co-operative environment before.

Past work:

I worked different niches in CPA and got $30+ every month auto pilot. Using a website and ranking a YT video.

Desired Sector(s):

CPA, Coding, whitehat, blackhat and social media

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)?

Because I do have a general knowledge on those sectors and I want to enhance it.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad?

Yes, I understand I'm very dedicated in every group I joined before sadly our last group has been disbanded. I gladly help my co members when they are in need.

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before?

I have been in former HF groups like Insight, Illsec, have been involved with Defcon groups in my area, and in addition to that I have also been on a FRC robotics team.

Past work: Coded the autonomous for a robot (link to the competition <http://www.firstinspires.org/robotics/frc>), <https://www.instagram.com/breaking.all.my.dreams/?hl=en> (my growing instagram account for writing), and I've worked at <http://passwordjdm.com/> to make and design parts.

Desired Sector(s): Coding, and maybe down the line Whitehat.

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)? I think I would be a good fit for this because I have previously been in groups similar to this, worked in STEM related fields, worked in a successful business, proven I am capable of learning, and I am also willing to learn and help others.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad? I absolutely understand what it means to be completely dedicated to the Squad. I spend an minimum of 3 hours online a day, and can easily devote large amount of time to helping out peers, and being a good community member.

Skill-set: cracking, CPA, Marketing This can include everything from white-hat to black-hat.

Have you worked in a group co-operative environment before? Yes I have been in multiple cracking groups and would love to be in this grip too. I have a great reputation for being nice and cooperative in any given environment.

Past work: Not a lot to show on HF but I have sold some CPA ebooks with a few ub3rs and make some pretty good money with the methods. Ask regulus or bluffer if you need some references. This can include everything from white-hat to black-hat.

Desired Sector(s): CPA and/or Marketing

Why do you think you'd be better to fill out this (or these, if you chose multiple) spot(s)? I have a great knowledge in those topics and would be willing the collaborate with other squad members to increase money flow and everyone's well being.

Do you understand that you'll need to be completely dedicated to the Squad? Yes, Squad has been the group that I have wanted to join since the first few weeks of my HF time.
