Thread: [\[Official Group\] The Order | General Recruitment](#)

Krave - March 24, 2016, 4:37 pm

Spoiler \(Click to View\)The lads

The Order

What the mind can conceive, it can achieve.

Owner: Krave

Leaders: Narrate - Regulus

This is the third official recruitment for The Order. This recruitment stage is just for general members.

The group adapts to the needs of each & every user. We also have a slight focus on gambling, but this isn't our main focus. My main aim for the group was to create a strong community. So far, I believe I have achieved that. We are now accepting more members into this community.

As we have 2 extra subforums, one of them is a Gambling subforum.

Requirements:

Be sensible and not post spam throughout the forums.

Have a good understanding of HF rules.

Be friendly. Flaming & arguments wont be tolerated. Debates are fine.

No scam reports/negative reputation.

Been a member for at least a month.

Application:

[color=#FF6347][b]What are your skill sets?[/b][/color]

Group Terms:

You must post in 72-hour Activity Check threads. These will be posted randomly so you must be active.

General inactivity will get you kicked.

I have the right to deny any applicant.

Me and my leaders have the right to kick you anytime.

You must respect all members.

This recruitment stage currently has no end date. We will accept members as more applications come in.

Good luck to everyone applying!

If your application is over 2 weeks old, it's safe to assume you're denied. Feel free to reapply after 2 weeks.

Do you agree to the group terms listed below?:

Of course, and I promise to abide by all group terms at all times either in the sub-forum or out of it.

Tell me about your history on HF:

Not really much to tell, I only just joined 2 months ago. So far I've had a pretty good experience. Met a lot of friendly members and such. Hoping to grow my experience here at HF by becoming part of a community that have similar skills as me so I can gain knowledge in fields that I would like and also give knowledge.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts):

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5202058> (provided a service to the community)

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5183366> (offered a free service to the community)

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5198788> (gave away some free bits to many users on BustaBit)

I know I haven't contributed much yet and if that's an issue than I completely understand, I know you will give my spot to someone more deserving.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

I can bring lots of things to the table, but there'll always be someone who can one up me. I am willing to do Member upgrades (Regular -> L33T and Epic), also by contributing quality posts and content when posting in the sub forum. I will also freely share my knowledge to anyone in the group or outside of the group that is interested in learning something new.

What are your skill sets?

SQL Injection

I joined HF on New Years 2015, originally I had joined to learn coding which I did for a while and plan to get back into in the near future. As my time here progressed I wanted to continue to learn as much as possible and expand my skill set. I later became interested in social media marketing and eWhoring, where I spend most of my time now. What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

As a member of this group I believe I can bring an aspect of dedication that most other members would not, I am online for a fair amount of time every day and always eager to help with group projects and to help members within the group with whatever I can with the knowledge I have. I feel like I would be able to represent the group well and would love to help the group contribute to the community.

What are your skill sets?

-Social Media Marketing

I have been involved with this for some time now and greatly enjoy it, I will also be having a marketing internship through my school this coming summer.

-eWhoring

I've been involved with eWhoring for about a year now and would consider myself an expert in the field, most of my contribution threads pertain to this section.

-Doxing

I don't know if this is a skill the group would find useful but I've been experienced with doxing for quite some time now and have developed adequate skills for it.

-Good communication skills

I pride myself in being able to express myself well and being able to carry a conversation with others whatever the topic may be.

-Work well with others

I think I'm a good team player and typically put others before myself and always work my hardest to get projects done on time and complete them well.

I'd like to thank the leaders for taking time to read my application and best of luck to everyone else that applies.

Originally I started back in 2012 as a lurker was too spooked to make an account so I would just lurk. Finally refound HackForums this past November and I decided to make an account and I have been happy since. I started out in ewhoring which I still do today. Next I attempted to learn CPA got pretty into then got bored of it. I have just recently started posting my graphics work on here which I have been doing since 2012 hopefully I can learn more from the forum and give back. Also have met so many new awesome people on here too long to list and I would like to thank them all

What have you contributed to the community?:

Most are my ewhore stream where I help noobs learn the basics. Also it helps me by learning thing from other members in the stream who know things I may not

Tell me about your history on HF:

In 2013 i joined Hackforums just as your average HF newbie, to learn about hacking.

I soon discovered that while hacking might sound cool, it's smarter to first teach yourself some actual programming skills, which i did.

First i was more of a reader then a poster, ofcourse with the exception once in a while, but soon i also became a poster.

Right now i am spending more time on HF then i have in the past, and my average postcount of the last few weeks have been around 30-50.

I love Hackforums, and it's community, and i would love it if i could join The Order, to be able to be even more active within the community.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts):

I have made a number of contributions to HF, most notable are:

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

I am a decent coder, and i am more then happy to help out any member that needs help with a code, or if they want to learn how to code.

For me it gives great satisfaction to help other members achieve their goals, and i would really like the chance to prove that to you within The Order.

What are your skill sets?

I am a decent coder in the following languages:

- Python
- Java
- HTML & CSS
- PHP

I am familiar with C# and C++, but i don't consider myself decent at it yet.

Furthermore i am experienced in / have knowledge about:

- Cryptography
- Cracking
- Remote Administration Tools
- Hardware
- Social Engineering
- Playing the guitar :)

Other than that, i am an overall nice guy who is always trying to be there for people should they need help.

Thank you so much for reading this application, i hope you will consider me for a spot in The Order.

Tell me about your history on HF: Okey, so early in 2015 i started selling CS:GO Skins, I used to steal those skins while there was something popular going on, those steam stealers. So i made a good ammount of money with that, then it got patched, so started stealing by using a RAT. So have been using Remote Administrator Tool for a good while, and owned all of the known rats / crypters on hf. After steam patched that, i had to earn more money, since i began to run out of money, so after that i started to do something thats legit atleast, Reselling at a higher %. That went smooht, after a month the market rates changed, so i had to find something else, and i got into eWhoring, Nasty, but cool. I've been doing that for two days now, and earn 800$, will keep doing that till i have a bit more. So that was my boring story from my activity on hf.

Tell me about your history on HF: I began using Hackforums in 2011 after stumbling onto the site while looking for a place to receive Runescape services. I joined the Runescape HF community at that point with the creation of a give away thread, where I provided over 170 members of the community with Runescape gold. I continue to remain active in this section.

I also began frequenting the Halo section at that time, as I was a competitive halo player at the time and held the #1 spot for Halo Reach on Gamebattles. I have amassed over 1500 posts in that section over the years, and put forward a great deal of effort in trying to keep that section alive during a time where the Halo series was beginning to diminish in popularity.

I was a member of Respawn for quite a while until group changes lead to a huge change in the userbase of the group.

I now frequent the Health Wise sections as well, as I have acquired a passion for health through my university education.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot? I'm a 22-year-old Canadian student finishing my 3rd year of BsN (Bachelor of Science Nursing). I hope to pursue a MSN (Master of Science Nursing) and become a nurse practitioner. Therefore, I have amassed quite a large body of health and health-related knowledge, which I believe is unique on a forum that is predominately composed of those interested in computer science based skills and technology. I am also quite knowledgeable about video games. I am not a programmer; however, I do have a good understanding of technology.

What are your skill sets?

As I have stated above, I am passionate about health and have quite a large body of health-related knowledge.

I am a very skilled console FPS player. I began playing Halo 3 all the time, and was eventually a 5-star general with 6 50s (hated swat lol) and an avid Gamebattles player by the time Halo Reach was released. I became the #1 overall ranked GB player for Halo Reach for the first 7 or so months before slowing down. I continued to play Gamebattles, and amassed the overall records displayed in my signature, in addition to other top teams that I do not have the URLs for. I continued to play Halo 4, but due to time constraints related to my university workload at the time, I stopped playing as much. I also grinded the crap out of MW3 after its released and maintained a top 50-60 position in FFA until Christmas break was over.

I joined HF 2 years ago. I've had great time here. I started off as a normal member, had nothing, couldn't afford anything. But a generous member upgraded me to L33T. The day he upgraded me, I decided that I'd work hard and show him that he made the right choice. That's when I started doing eWhoring. I earned good, but money didn't make me happy, so I stopped. Then I started doing graphics designing. I don't always do it. But I am really good at it. I do it when I am in need of money. That's pretty much it. I joined back in 2014 when I was just looking to learn about DDOSing because it was something that really intrigued me. After I learned how it worked and how to do it I just stuck around and tried new things. I'm mostly a casual forum member but I love taking part in events so I would always try my luck when I saw them. About three or four months ago I started learning about RAtIng. Once I kinda knew what that was all about I just figured it wasn't worth the trouble for me to learn how to be proficient with it because I would never be doing it.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts):

I haven't brought much to the community except chit chat and games. I don't like posting on many philosophy threads just to avoid much conflict. I posted a very beginners guide to doxing just because people would always ask for does even though the process is very simple. I felt like newer people were just getting scammed more than they should have been.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

Although I don't excel in any one area, I think that I have always been so curious about things and explorative that I have a very wide range of hobbies/general knowledge. This may not be the most helpful as you guys are undoubtedly looking for people that specialize in certain areas, but I enjoy things from playing the guitar to videogames to philosophy. That's not it of course, I'm just trying to provide a basic example.

What are your skill sets?

Like I stated above, I don't excel in any category, but I have a very wide range of hobbies and interests. If I were to chose one area of expertise, it would probably be in philosophical studies as strange as it may be. I think that philosophy is what our lives are built around. Our morals and our daily routines revolve around our philosophies and that's why I enjoy learning about it so much.

Thanks :)

Tell me about your history on HF: When I first joined, I started out in the RAT section. I eventually learned and decided to give back. I was helping members out with a good friend named "Armada". After some time, I shared a spreading method I was using as I had given up on RATting. I now rarely touch the RAT section and I'm listed as one of the support members for Luminosity Link. Currently, I'm active in all of the sections I can be, helping any one with their problem, as long as I can provide a solution.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts):

I've contributed in two threads. Here they are:

My Spreading Method:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=4871124>

This was posted to help users in the rat section with a starting way to spread their binaries. I've had some feedback and to this day it's still being noticed.

My second thread is a .net program I made. I decided to release it on HF the day later.

SimpleRefresh:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5217826>

This is a "simple" tool that can be used for refreshing pages. Simple enough.

My intentions with it was to increase my online time through this program, having it refresh in a desired interval. Most forums have a timeout after not being active for 30 minutes (random guess) and this prevents that by refreshing. Most people say there are plugins for this, I say that mine beats plugins as it keeps track of how many refreshes have been made and how long it has been running for.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot? I know my way around RATs and can help with any thing in its bracket.

I also know how to identify RATs if a user is skeptical of it being one.

I do work on quite a few .net projects so I can help any of the group's members and be a .net buddy to work with. (I'm not Odus though)

I'm also very good at English and I do not mind checking for grammar or any sort of errors like that.

What are your skill sets?

RATs, some .net, English, Social Engineering, creating spreading methods, advertising. I say advertising as my English teacher at my college also teaches "Media Studies" which studies on Media (no shit) and currently we're looking at film institutions and how they market their film.

I originally joined Hack Forums just to purchase a Minecraft griefing client. From there I mainly hung out in the Minecraft section, but ventured out every once and a while. Eventually I realized that being around a toxic environment such as the griefing section was starting to turn me into an asshole, so I changed my focus. I started to help out people in the Minecraft and Minecraft Server Management section when they needed it. Eventually I decided to take a break from HF due to complications with me being registered here with my gaming community, and took two 6 month vacation bans. I've recently made my return, and my goal is to try to help people with anything that I can, and just hang out.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts):

As I previously stated, my main focus was the Minecraft section, so all of my threads of importance will be in that section.

Basic bPermissions Tutorial

Installing Tekkit on a VPS

Attempt at a server host mega thread

BackToAlpha (Texturepack with Alpha/Beta textures, long discontinued)

Opinion on how MC servers should be ran

I would post more but none of the images work in my notable threads anymore.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

I've been hosting Minecraft servers since I was 12 back in 2012. It has been a major part of my life and has drastically effected my life. I'm highly experienced with the way that they work and the configuration and management of them. I've had my hands in either the hosting, management, or co-management of Minecraft servers for the past 4 years. I also would of had a job with one of the top hosts, MCProHosting, if it weren't for me not reaching their age requirement(Currently 17). (I emailed the founder, and he got me an interview) They told me to re-apply when I do become 18.

What are your skill sets?

Basic/Intermediate server management, currently taking courses in the Java programming language, plan to venture out once I have a good grasp on that. Basic understanding of HTML/CSS, currently making a website for my gaming community. Drive to learn about and overcome any obstacle that I may come across.

When it comes to helping people, I read over everything that they have said and go about it in a logical and unbiased way. I also don't get mad at them when they don't fully understand something, as either I made a mistake in my wording or they might not fully comprehend what I said.

Tell me about your history on HF: I have been apart of HackForums for years. Originally I started as one who just lurked, looked around, networked via PM, and obtained skills/studied from other members. I've had the opportunity to work with many outstanding members of the community. I've personally owned several different services within the forums, including a hosting business that I currently own. I was most recently apart of NetStresser's Support team (owned by Mons) which has now closed.

Tell me about your history on HF:

Well I started off on HF about 4 years ago, I was like one of these 14 year old kids that wanted to learn how to hack and know more about computers and technology in general.

A friend of mine told me about this forum and I started to create an account, I learned a lot on this forum, mainly knowledge about programming and hacking in general.

I think hackforums also was a trigger for me to start my current study 'Software & Information Engineering', I like to make things from scratch and actually build something that is your own.

Beside programming I've also made a lot of electronic music in the past, but the last month's I have a lot of school work and don't really have a lot of time for that left.

But I have quite a huge knowledge of electronic music, synthesizing and such.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

Because I'm studying software and information engineering I can bring a lot of knowledge about that (mainly java) and I can also bring A LOT of knowledge about music producing.

Beside that I think I'm a nice person, kinda hard to judge yourself tho but I think I am. I'd like to help people out and I'd also like the feeling of being part of a community.

What are your skill sets?

- Java
- Python
- Html/Css/Polymer
- Javascript
- Producing Music (Synthesizing, sound-designing)
- Some GFX (Not too good)

batch
assembly x86 (intel and AT&T syntax)
assembly x64 (intel and AT&T syntax)
javascript
SQL

Hypertext Markup Language:
Html5
CSS5

General concepts:
Reverse Engineering
Low level exploits (Such as Buffer and heap overflow)

High Level exploits (Such as XSS attack, SQLi, RFI attacks)
Social Engineering

General networking (Osi, TCP/IP layouts, dataflows in networks)

Other Miscellaneous skills:
I speak fluent french.
Knowledge in the fields of Canadian and American laws.
Politic system and economics.
Stock market.
Crypto currency.

I joined this forum with interest I was brought here by some Mybb forum. I become more active in the forum learned the rules on the first day began lurking to figure out everything I should know here. After that I decided this forum is not half bad and decided to upgrade to l33t, after that I found a MC server called HackerCraft my friend runs, it seemed like a ton of fun spent all spring break playing on the server for like 10am-5am (Yes for about 17 hours) had really nothing to do with my time then the server was down for a day I began to look through the forum and found a usergroup called Dawn making recruitments I decided hell, I'll apply and got accepted and to be honest the group leader and owner, and the entire group was quite amazing I got to meet new friends new people to talk to more people to play with, it was great! So now since school started up I've been relaxing more doing some exchanges on here or selling hackercraft IGM. And that's kind of where my story ends.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

I have a lot to offer in regard to teaching. I am more than willing to help anyone who needs it in making money online, or learning more about monetization, especially Crypto Currency. I have a very diverse skill set (see next section) and therefor allows me to teach most topics and skills without issues, as well as help where it is needed.

I believe I can bring KNOWLEDGE to this group. Knowledge is the key to being successful, so I believe it is a good asset to the group.

What are your skill sets?

My skillset includes:

CPA/Affiliate Marketing (2+ years experience)

Basic GFX (1+ years experience)

SEO and Internet product marketing (3+ years experience)

General Crypto Currency (3+ years experience)

Bitcoin/Altcoin Trading (1.5 years experience)

Bitcoin/Altcoin Dice Knowledge and Gambling experience (3 years experience)

Thank you for the opportunity, and hope to be accepted into The Order!

Tell me about your history on HF: I originally joined HF to find a grieving client for Minecraft and I ended up with a lot more than that. I made a few close friends, wasted a bit of money, ended up getting L33t and Ub3r eventually and joining an Ub3r chat with some guys I still talk to to this day, and I met them back in 2012. I've stayed relatively active and I help where it's needed. I've spent most of my time in the Minecraft section and the gaming sections however I've ventured to the CPA/PPD and sold a few products, none of which were extremely successful but I've made a fair amount from them.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts): I help where it's needed. In the Minecraft section, I leave pointers and tips where I feel someone can benefit from them. I've sold some products with other people and worked with them on various other things. I don't have a good amount of threads/posts that show I've contributed a ton to the community however whenever people have asked me either via PM or on threads, I've gladly helped.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot? I'm a genuine person, I've got knowledge from experiences and obstacles I've overcome which most of the people here haven't. Whether it be getting scammed and going into debt and paying it off and eventually making a load of profit to just staying active and willing to help where I can.

Of course.

Tell me about your history on HF:
I originally came here for an aimbot for CS:GO, but realized there are a lot of other cool sections and members on here, so I stuck around. Plus the graphics section of any forum always lures me in.

So ever since then I've been here. I'm usually either helping people out with graphics - anywhere from simple cnc to helping members on an individual level. I also tend to mess around in the lounge at work, as well as slowly learning i'm an addict in the Vice section. Sometimes I lurk the Hack/Tech/Code/Game sections also.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts):

Well, I had a free GFX service, but for some reason it got deleted the other day, but I'll create a new one soon. I've also made tutorials, free signatures and other graphics. I've also helped members with troubleshooting network/computer issues, anywhere from hardware to software. I also make people laugh. :)

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

Depends what you guys need. If it's graphics, I'm your man. I'm also very good with troubleshooting Windows, OS X, and hardware.

What are your skill sets?

- Adobe Photoshop/Graphics/GFX
- Adobe After Effects
- Sony Vegas
- Windows and OS X troubleshooting
- Hardware and Software diagnostics
- Networking (CCNA-level) and Security
- Other skills, but these are my primary skills.

Tell me about your history on HF:

I have been a part of the HF community from mid-end 2014, I have been reasonably active throughout the forum posting from here to there about things that interest me. I have owned my own CSGO account shop and I recently started selling the accounts again. I use the marketplace generally a lot for many things. I also love the lounge, it is such a nice place to be talking with the community. I have most certainly enjoyed talking to many people throughout what you could call my journey at HackForums. I have been less active throughout the forum over the past half a year so due to personal reasons, but over the few weeks I have really got back into the forum and I wish to stay active on the forum and pursue the many more good times to come.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts):

Overall my previous experience at the forums included innovation in many areas. For example, I developed a new method for getting your steam game count up and shared it with the community, which led to at least a 50% increase in my reputation, (before I lost it all while drunk.) I have brought not only my ideas from my knowledge, but my general passion for innovation, and to helping others. Here are some links to threads in which I believe have help the community:

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

Honestly, I couldn't comment on other people bring to this group or not, I having now been searching for a group for over a month, I have built up a very enviable network of other users which I think most other candidates would find hard to beat. I have developed successful relationships with some of the more "popular" users on Hackforums and this enables me to achieve a much higher prospect than the average. I believe this application is clear evidence of what I would be able to achieve for you if you decide to appoint me to the role of this group. I have actually applied for this before, but my standard was lacking so I fixed it up and here we are. I am relatively ambitious, highly driven and I relish a challenge, I greatly hope I can be part of this group.

What are your skill sets?

I can work very well as a team, I feel ready for joining a group and I already know a few guys in this group so I thought it would be the one. I believe I am very good at building a relationship with many new people in life and I am confident and open. I believe I am very good at motivating others and listening to others opinions on certain situations. I appreciate even just the opportunity to be accepted into this group and thank you very much.

Tell me about your history on HF: I first joined hackforums to browse the marketplaces (premium, secondary) and see the crazy things the enthusiastic teenager on the other side of the monitor is trying to profit off of. I will admit, my first hackforums purchase was a Sonex ebay monetizing ebook. That's where we all start; furthermore, when Counter-Strike came out I was interested in acquiring skins via the virtual game items but many of the skin stealers that sold skins only accepted bitcoin, so I would have to convert my paypal into bitcoin to buy skins. I then wanted to achieve more with myself. I wanted to not have to rely on the people stealing skins to get the glorious pixels, so I started stealing myself. I went to LePanthere like most would to get a build and be on my way. At the beginning I was getting mostly trading cards and $.20 TF2 scrap metal, but then I started getting good loot when I researched the many spreading techniques. Soon enough I was one of the people selling stolen skins from upset cs:go players.

Then after my stealing days were over I hit a period of inactivity . . . a couple months.

Came back for the sole purpose of being a bitcoin exchanger. I had a flowing income of paypal so I ran a safe paypal to bitcoin exchange service.

Now I just buy RP and other useless shit, and I browse many of the discussion subforums. Usually just keep refreshing on new posts.

I believe I have a great business mind and I also love gambling. I believe that both of these together is a deadly weapon. In the business industry you need to gamble to succeed and take risks and I feel as if I can provide The Order not only that risky sense (in a good way) but a lot of feedback and help when it comes to anything on the business side. I love messing around with websites and creating graphics along with helping others. I am easy going and I love making jokes and this could just add to all the fun but I can be taken serious as well. I am not a professional what so ever when it comes to website, graphics, or marketing but who really needs to nowadays when you have google ;P I also believe I could provide funds for projects going on in the group if their was any.

Do you agree to the group terms listed below?:I completely do. If for any reason I cannot live by the rules listed above, I will resign. Rules are to be taken seriously.

Tell me about your history on HF:

I joined HackForums back in January 2014. First I came here to learn about pentesting. I was just a regular student who was looking for something new. The site was pretty different back then. Over the years my reason to stay here varied alot. After I learned more about hacking in 2014, I got interested in Graphics. I bought my license for Photoshop and started my first online business in computer graphics.

That really activated me.

After my first business went down, because studying ate all my time, I had break. I didn't visit HackForums for about six months. Well I finished my studies and came back. Now I was interested in website development. I studied CSS, HTML, JavaScript etc from 2015 January to this date. Every single day I learned something new.

Of course I did alot of different things here inbetween those things. I was in Divine back in the day, I worked at university and learned alot of smaller, but important skills. Doxing was one of these skills. In general HackForums has taught me alot of different useful skills over the years. And I am grateful for that.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts): It is my shame to say that I do not have anything concrete to offer here. I have helped in programming over the years, but never really contributed in any official threads. I didn't have enough experience back then. Now I have, and it is time to contribute.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot? On top of my programming skills, I can provide array of contacts in politics, universities, and global companies. I will not say here what I do for living, but I can tell privately. I have alot of resources to offer. I can teach economics to our members, I can teach languages and alot more. Do you want insider information about goverment decisions, I can get that. Let's just say I am involved in decision making. That is rare for HackForums users. That, and all it gives I can offer.

I would say that, I don't actually mind if you pick someone else over me, but in the long run, I think I would be a better choice over others as I can and will contribute more than 95% of the other applicants (in my opinion). I strive to be A part of the best environment/crew possible and if you do pick me, I will definitely work towards collectively working for the betterment of the group and its already well-established reputation of providing high quality content. I am friendly (yea...), honest, experienced and I would like a chance to prove myself as a worthy addition to the group itself. [/color]

Do you agree to the group terms listed below?: Yes, I agree to the terms.

Tell me about your history on HF:

I joined HF back in 2010. I started off first on halostrike as I was interested in team standbys in H2. I got tired of playing legit and getting cheated on when you hit lvl 40+. It then gradually got into modding. Then it got into host booting because of DONTCARE. He was a known booter (the first that I know of). Then halostrike got shortly shut down and I was still interested in bots and kicking people offline and it eventually led me to here in 2010. I also got into RATs and found poisonivy (throwback).

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts):

I have been involved and reselling many products. Such as the sk1d products and blackout AIO. Though these have ended and are no longer supported, these were very popular back in early 2011 that I provided support for. The issue with reselling and why I stopped coming back to HF was that I was tired of the scamming. Joker, the owner of Sk1d, was backdooring his product and infected many members. I made a thread originally with screenshots and had him banned. The second time around, with Blackout AIO, Gamepro was the owner, and he simply just stopped replying and went off the grid. At this point, I've had so many PMs and IM messages up that I didn't know what to do. I couldn't even refund customers, because all I did was provide support. A couple of years later, BlackShades was released and I thought wow, a product that looks good and will probably last. I decided to wait to see if it would last. Then about 6 months after, it got shut down by the FBI. Though I haven't contributed much to the forum as I did to my own wallet, at least I didn't give up on helping members and runaway with the money. I love helping members and making sure that what they pay for, is the real deal, and won't have to worry about being infected. Recently, I have been given detailed reviews for e-Books. I want to make sure that users do not scammed front methods that are saturated and given false reviews by upgraded members. Recently, I reviewed Forumla 1's eBook which has generated so much revenue.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

Tell me about your history on HF: I joined in March 2014. When I joined, I never really posted much, I was more of a lurker. Now that it's been a good 2 years, I've decided I want to contribute in the HackForums community and decided to post around a bit, but not too much. I did have a bit of a bad start honestly, but I've cleared it all up. PM me for more information about this "history". I also PM'd you (Krave) about this to clear some things up about the 2011 stuff.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts): I have PM'd you (Krave) about this.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot? I can bring a fun experience and nice pictures to share that I myself have taken. I want to join the group for experience for myself, and not join the group just for a userbar like some other members. I would start to do giveaways and stay loyal to the group.

What are your skill sets? I take some decent HQ pictures, I code Python (a bit) and HTML. Gaming is a thing I do, but not too much of it. I'm also decently experienced with virus removal and computers.

Tell me about your history on HF: Well I joined for some reason I can't really remember. I made a few friends, but never got into the community all that well. I did a lot offsite with the game Minecraft and then came back. I remembered talking with my friends about groups and how if we ever owned one how cool it'd be and whatnot. So I decided to buy one. I didn't like how the current groups were and what the new ones were turning into so I decided to try and bring back the old groups but with a modern twist. It worked, people liked the group, but after a little over a year and a half I grew tired of it and all of my leaders had all but left HF or went fairly inactive. It was pretty sad because iHydra was the only reason I bought the group in the first place, if he hadn't said yes to being a leader I would've never bought the group. And when he left I thought about leaving as well but I kept going for a good 6months leading Titans. But like I said I got tired of it after a year and a half of doing it. The effort needed to run that group and keep it afloat was too much, I wanted to relax and have fun. So I made Minecrafters. And I helped HackerCraft but even my help wasn't enough to save it from dying... and that's pretty much it.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts): The only thread worth mentioning imo: Here

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot? Creative thinking, a good personality, and somebody who is fun and genuine.

What are your skill sets? I have people skills, semi-decent drawing skills, and I am very creative.

Tell me about your history on HF: Well I joined for some reason I can't really remember. I made a few friends, but never got into the community all that well. I did a lot offsite with the game Minecraft and then came back. I remembered talking with my friends about groups and how if we ever owned one how cool it'd be and whatnot. So I decided to buy one. I didn't like how the current groups were and what the new ones were turning into so I decided to try and bring back the old groups but with a modern twist. It worked, people liked the group, but after a little over a year and a half I grew tired of it and all of my leaders had all but left HF or went fairly inactive. It was pretty sad because iHydra was the only reason I bought the group in the first place, if he hadn't said yes to being a leader I would've never bought the group. And when he left I thought about leaving as well but I kept going for a good 6months leading Titans. But like I said I got tired of it after a year and a half of doing it. The effort needed to run that group and keep it afloat was too much, I wanted to relax and have fun. So I made Minecrafters. Tell me about your history on HF: I joined in 2012 however never became active until mid-late 2013. I originally registered because I wanted to learn more about hacking especially ratting however I then became active in other sections of the site and since have increased my activity even more. I now use HF for many hours every day.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot?

I am very active, there are very few other users on HF who are as active as I am (I'm here literally most of the day, every day). I am a high quality poster, I don't troll or post low quality content. I enjoy contributing in discussions with other users. I bring to The Order a high quality presence of a mature person.

What are your skill sets? I can't say I'm the best at it as I'm still learning but I really enjoy web development.

Tell me about your history on HF: I have been a long time HF member. Joined back in 2010 and most of the time I lurk. As a huge tech and science fan I tend to lean towards these kind of posts. I love reading the SRPP section on HF but lately I am growing tired of the lack of original debates or topics. English is not my native language so often I find it hard participating on the high level of communication in this section. I'd rather make an excellent point in correct English or not post at all. This is one of the main reasons I spend the majority of my time lurking.

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot? As I am not yet a part of the group implying I could bring something others can not would imply myself to be better than any1 else in a certain topic on this forum. I do not think this highly of myself. I do however, as being a major science / technology enthusiast, have my own Podcast (in Dutch) about Science, Technology and Pop Culture. We have aprox. 1500 listeners. I think this gives me the toolset to have an above average understanding of technological concepts like Cryptocurrency, AI, VR and AR and all stuff space related (SpaceX, Nasa, The Planetary Society etc.),

What are your skill sets? I did a major in Computer Security and am able to understand most things discussed on this forum. My skill include, but or not limited to: Networking, Certified Apple Product Professional (6 years in a row), Communications, (basic) hacking skills.

If anything remains unclear after my application, feel free to contact me!

Thank you for taking the time to review this application and I hope to be welcomed into this amazing group.

Tell me about your history on HF: I first came here to find others interested in malware ideas and samples since the forum I used to be on got shutdown.

What have you contributed to the community? (Link threads/posts): I don't make a lot of threads, I help a lot of people with Remote Admin Tools (Check my posts)

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot? General malware knowledge, RAT Spreading and support

What are your skill sets? RATs, General Malware

What can you bring to The Order which others cannot? I don't feel many groups but riptide have a musical aspect to them and I'd like to bring this to the order. Because who doesn't love sick beats?

What are your skill sets? I'd the to say PHP for the most part. I'm also into music production, web design and GFX when I'm bored.

Closing this for a little while, not to long though. All applications have now been reviewed, congratulations if you've been accepted.

The only open recruitment right now is the Gambling Recruitment, so please apply there if it appeals to you.
