Thread: I'm a shoe reseller, market for them here?

Sleezy Yeezy - March 28, 2016, 12:25 am

I am a shoe reseller as a business IRL
I have a eBay shop/website/twitter/Instagram

I make decent money off reselling.
I only go for select releases though so it's a spotty venture.

But I'm curious I see a lot of people on here looking for bots / shoes frequently.

Was wondering if I were to sell some of my left overs on here for a slightly discounted RESELL price not RETAIL.

Would anyone like to see this?

Don't ask (Click to View)

If I have a bot
How I get my cops
Will I OOP you
Will I sell for retail
Because the answer is no, always.

5 mins im off to night class but anyways ill make this quick use the fucking google, man.

you'll find hackforums on google, right?

search for online forums(like this) where people talk about shoes.

like literally, I'm off to launch my next product line and on a quick google i just found 20 sites to promote it.

now how will i handle this? easy. I'll hire people to promote my product on their shortlist of similar sites, and i'll delegate the handling of accounts and inquiries towards them. on sales, they'll get a decent share. 40/60, i get 40, they get 60.

best of luck.

What sort of brand do you sell, you haven't mentioned that..

in short: more leads in the pipe = more deals in the pipe. how do you handle massive deals in the pipe, by delegating the handling of certain portions of the deals in the pipe.

Most people here will doubt the legitimacy of the shoes.
