I apologize for the inconvenience Axis

Young Thugs Profile :<https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=2776397>

Earlier I was invited to a group which was made by Travis Bickle.

Edit: I purchased an @ off of "Houndoom" that was taken by bullets, But recovered by houndoom

I received a skype contact request, it was bullets himself.

I asked what he wanted, and he wanted my @, I blocked him before he can lay out his threats.

Just block them and move on. All I've seen from Bullets so far makes him look like a little bitch lmao

?XiS - March 29, 2016, 9:36 pm

Also, I am not "friends" with Bullets, and I am not associated with him in anyway, apart from the fact he just joined the group chat 10 minutes ago. If I was associated with him, I wouldn't have PM'd you at all, or warned you or anything.

That's not even my Skype, and I'd appreciate if you DIDN'T attempt to make my Skype public. I have nothing to do with any of this, and anyone in that chat we're in will tell you that. I simply got passed a message to give to you, I thought it's better for both of us if I just pass on that message to you.

Never have I once DDOS-ed, threatened, harassed a member on HF before, and never will I. I just got told to warn you, so I did.

Before anyone thinks I've sold my account, been hacked, etc, no, I haven't, it's still me.

No, I haven't been caught up in anything, no I haven't been involved in anything, and no, what I PM'd you wasn't supposed to be inferred as a threat.

I'd appreciate if you PM'd me and got at least my "involvement" sorted out.

OP, why not just PM me directly?

The only reason I relayed a message from Bullets, is because I didn't want to see anything happen to YOU...

I've never associated with Bullets before, ANYONE in that chat with us will tell you that. The only people I speak to regularly are Travis, Rabies and Snooker.

I'm not involved, and never WILL be involved in something like this.

The only reason I passed on the message was so that you could sort it out between you two, rather than something happen to your accounts and stuff (bear in mind I don't know Bullets so I don't know what he's capable of).

This is the same thing as what happened with the Instagrammy award.

Why would I risk my rep, my awards, and my account for something so stupid?

Like I said, why not just PM me and try get my side of the story before you accuse me of something?

Also, the Skype you linked to me is the wrong Skype.

Travis Bickle, my partner on here, was trying to sell his Twitter @ yesterday.
I was supposed to be the middleman. He added me to the group chat with, you guessed it, Bullets.

We spoke for about half an hour, the guy did make me laugh, I'm not going to deny that (the stuff he said), but he did waste our time, and me and Travis both ended up leaving this chat. If you don't believe me, PM my partner when he comes on.

Anyone that knows me on HF knows that I wouldn't associate with a scammer - it's just not in my nature, or the way I've been brought up.

Not going to lie, I saw you viewing my profile before you posted this thread, I thought you were going to +3 me saying something like "Thanks for looking out for me" then I see this?

Another good laugh if this kid gets his account closed, 'again' for being associated with dem bulletz.

I like what they're doing though, great profit margins.

Too bad, just a lot of downsides though.

I.e. Socially fucked up mindset, deteriorating lifestyle, zero chance of ever getting 'genuinely' liked by any woman and peers of his age, and oh, welp, did I just mentioned typical signs that eventually leads to suicide?

Alskling - March 29, 2016, 10:16 pm

Well technically by default Omni just instabans anyone related to the guy.

I mean, bulletz doesn't even give Omni any cuts on his profits, plus he's economically hurting omni's economy by reducing the amount of cash rotating in the forum.

If you can't beat the guy, join the guy, simple. Omni just don't want you guys shitting on him here on his forums.

Getcha?

I'm just never sure why scammer get butthurt when I close their accounts. What else do they expect I would do?

I encourage members to never give a crap about internet threats and blackmail. Anyone who is bullying you from a keyboard is nothing but a slimy coward.

Get over the drama. Move on and get back to normal things around here. Many of those causing problems are only encouraged by saying their name (or handle) and you give them the attention they so dearly want.

Let me do my job of closing accounts of scammers or those that are stolen/sold. Members just have to worry about their own account security.
