Thread: Is it against the rules to sell League of Legends accounts as a regular member?

So the title pretty much explains it all.

I've seen some comments on a few threads that only upgraded members are allowed to sell online accounts? I just wonder if this is true or false? I can't seem to find any rules about it?

I have a few of my personal accounts I want to get sold, just need to be pointed in the right direction. ?

Cheers,

Yes it is illegal but I reccomend that you dont sell you league account here anyway cause people will lowball you. You'll probably have better luck at player auctions.

The risk of getting scammed here is much higher as well. OP you are much better of selling your account on Player Auctions or any other trusted website.
