King Cin - April 5, 2016, 2:05 pm

I really don't want to be up against Novica since he did a great job this month. Personally know all of the other nominees besides him. Fiber does a good job with running HackerCraft. Remix is very active in the coding section and I can see he's very passionate about it when I hear him talking about it. Ren is a great guy and an Empire brother never forgotten. Also leads The Order which is one of my favorite groups at the moment.

Besides didn't Phyber already have a few scam reports on him? Why would people continue to use his as a MM?

Yeah, yeah, yeah. Middleman services are just for post and repwhores that have no talents to attempt to offer a service to seem high quality. Salesmen offer much more of a contribution.

Regulus is a chill guy though and I didn't mean to derail the thread so peace.

What exactly have you done? I do a hell of a lot more than you think I do. Everyday I answer PMs of people that need help with something, I am always in the RANF answering questions. I can almost guarantee the amount I have spent upgrading members also totals more than you have donated for your awards. And Fiber? I may not personally like the guy but he does a damn lot for this community, a lot more than anyone can say you have done. So what if he has help with HC, still takes a lot of effort he has definitely put in.

Where do you get that I was crying about anything? Also what does your posts/threads in the coding section have to do with anything? King Cin is a little group whore, but an active group whore. An active writer and innuendo helper.

Novica has been active in the graphics sections since as long as I can remember. He has made several free graphics for me, and even helped with group graphics for Archive.

RenRioku™ used to be extremely active in the DOS section if I remember correctly and has helped me years ago with a script or two. And has recently helped me with some basic web dev that I needed help with.

Teh Remix is active in the coding tag and in several groups.

So this leaves the 2 members that didn't vote for themselves.

Both deserve it IMO, but I'm voting for the member that I have seen help other members more.
