Hi people of HF I need your help. My dad has a very important document on his laptop I need to get access to, I need this for personal stuff. However I don't know how I can bypass his password :/ I would be very happy if someone here could help me with this issue :)

PS I can get into the laptop on a different user, but I cannot access the document from there. Thank's again :)

Konboot. Do I need to say more? Just google it!

You can use a tool such as Konboot, which you boot from before startup, and you can just bypass the login.

Alternatively, you could crack the password with a tool like ophcrack, but that will require watching a few YouTube videos to learn to use. The disadvantage of it is that it takes longer to do than Konboot.

I think u can plugin the windows boot files. and boot up CMD repair or so.. Then change the password by CMD commands.. im not 100% sure about this it might be patched.

Hope it helped enjoy.
