That's because it's encrypted homie, the only way to recover is to contact support via email. (Or maybe phone, because I doubt you have tried to call yet.)

Everything is gone, there is no way to recover without password or help from support.

FYI, McAfee is garbage, their support is garbage, all their products are garbage.

McAfee is what you end up with when you're an end user and don't know any better. Sorry man.

What would be a better option than McAfee?
