I've just finished my project with @al5in5 and here is my final thoughts on everything,

I've been trying to get a website developed for some time now to manage my software and support auto-buy using BTC/Paypal. Everyone I've talked to gave me a quote of about $500+ and al5ina5 originally only charged me $210, but because I didn't want to pay upfront 50%, I paid more as progress went on and still got a lower quote than the rest.

However, I was a little scared of purchasing something like this because usually site developers want half the payment upfront and sometimes they run off, I'm not rich and losing $100 isn't fun so I wanted to pay using a middle-man or as progress went and almost every site developer shut me down instantly. No one would deal with me because they weren't going to get 50% upfront, even though I would pay right after any % or progress (even 10%).

al5ina5 didn't shoot me down, he talked it over with me and came to a reasonable understanding and we setup a plan on how payments would be made and progress would be done. Not only that, he went out of his way to explain and help me throughout the whole process such as setting up a domain (twice) and showing me the ropes around the website he completed for me.

The website itself is beautiful, I'm really satisfied. It does everything I wanted it to do and more. I can't wait to finally get my products added to it so I can begin using it publicly.

Thanks again, al5ina5.

I appreciated that he also took the time to answer all of my questions; baring with me a lot.

He is definitely the one to seek if you are looking for a professional web service. His prices are very good, and he is very patient.

I would definitely recommend him to those that are seeking someone for a web service!

He quickly responded to all of my questions, and made a very offer for me for my situation.

He offered to take care of everything for me, or for me to just buy the scripts from him; both of which are very well priced.

I have sent OP a request. Could you please look at it? It will be a serious project, but a serious chance as well to add to your knowledge & experience and as I, too, can write some code I will provide you additional help if I can.

I can recommend this service if you want to provide auto-buy with your product (for example, PHP <-> Net Seal). OP has knowledge! ?

I created several libraries (such as that menu) that we love to use across many of our websites. It's nice, simple, attractive, and people seem to like it!

Do you do any functional sites or just landing pages?

I focus in front-end development but am no stranger to back-end. We've done quite a selection of registration systems, IP related tools, mailing tools and other advertisement tools. I don't create web-stressers, or malicious things like that.
