Thread: [\[NA\] RARE League of Legends Club Invites](#)

Guardians - April 17, 2016, 8:22 am

Hey everyone,

Today I'm selling invites to a club with a rare name. I am second to the leader of this group who I am good friends with, I will guarantee that your spot within this club is PERMANENT or a full refund will be granted.

Club Name: TS*

Hint: A REALLY famous NA LCS team.

Proof:

Want to show off in your normal/ranked games? This is definitely the tag for you! I've gotten so many people to think that I'm smurfing for TSM, it's hilarious!

The club is currently at 21/50 members, and I'll be selling slots at:

$20.00 BTC

or

$25.00 Paypal

For anyone who thinks these prices are ridiculous, keep in mind TS* is in the finals for NA LCS, which has gained them a huge amount of popularity. Also, people are willing to spend 100s of dollars on skins that anyone can obtain, yet, a club name like this is limited to ONLY 50 people, which is surely a novelty for any serious league of legends player. ?

Let me know if anyone is interested via post or PM, thanks!

Seems kinda over priced if this should be priced at all lol

And what's stopping you from kicking people out once an individual pays? I mean no offense but you got nothing to lose on his forum bb. You should probably give a vouch copy (invite someone permanently) to one or two people.

I've already sold 2 slots a few weeks ago?

I see what you mean by this, but I have no intent in kicking whatsoever, you can ask those who have purchased from me. I don't see why vouch copies would make this any more legitimate, considering I have all the proof I need that I can invite individuals to the club.

EDIT: Plus, you're certainly right - I do have nothing to lose if I were to scam. Besides the fact that I uphold my morals and would never commit a sinful act such as that... In additional, if I were to scam, I would have to say bye-bye to my account, which means a lot to me as I've had thousands of hours and dollars put into it. So why would I risk it?

The way I see it. 21/50 slots at $20 a pop he's not going to have any need to kick people because there's plenty room, and I know the club won't fill too fast because people value "TS_" at the end of your name ingame differently.

I think it's worth. :)

Haha I have you on my list! Good luck with sales! I'm Coyote.

Exactly, everyone values it differently. If you are a diehard TSM fan, then this is exactly what you need. I've responded to your PM and added you on league.

To everyone else: These slots are still for sale :)

Understandable, not everyone will want to buy since it is mostly aimed towards those who follow the LCS and play league a lot. ?

The question is: Are the real TSM members in there or is this just taking away the nametag

No real TSM members are in this group, it's solely me and a group of friends.
