Thread: My feedback to Omniscient and the HF Staff team.

Silicon Valley - April 20, 2016, 6:55 pm

I've been wanting to write this thread for a while now. Just never really got around to it. Mostly afraid of what users are going to think about what i'm saying. Everyone interprets things differently so just please keep in mind. I'm being completely honest on what I'm about to type.

Omniscient. All the work you do to maintain hackforums is just amazing. Honestly the amount of workload you must have to deal with. And especially the stupidity that you have to deal with on a daily basis. Personally the amount of work you do to me is unimaginable and I would just like to thank you.

And the HF Staff team. I could imagine you guys must get people always questioning you about warnings. It must get annoying. Really annoying. Especially when the answer is within the HF Help Docs. Its your job and some users are mentally unable to comprehend that. Hackforums is a huge forum and gets tons of posts and threads daily and moderating that is definitely a tough job. There have probably been a million threads thanking the staff and Omniscient but I really do mean it. Also considering you have to balance personal-life related things with Hackforums makes it even tougher to do your daily job. You guys really deserve respect for everything that you do.

I apologize if I made any grammar mistakes or if some of the text doesn't make sense, I'm just exhausted but I really do feel like I need to post this thread now. There are some more things that I would love to say but I don't want to make this thread into an essay therefore I'll just end it here. Keep up the good work guys :)

Could not agree more

Would like to extend my thanks to all those who contribute like you guys!

Since 2012 I have witnessed a daily moderation of just divine and up most professional staffing.

Thanks. I was mainly afraid of posting this thread due to some people might think I'm not being truthful. As of now I just believe its necessary. After all the shit the staff and Omniscient have to deal with they definitely deserve it.

Ecto - April 20, 2016, 7:07 pm

You were worried about how people are going to interpret your thread? You said nothing but nice things. lol.

True. But some people might consider that ass-kissing or something similar. So I was definitely worried. However Omniscient and the HF Staff definitely do a heck of a good job at moderating the forums.

?Citizen Z / Napalm - April 20, 2016, 7:15 pm

Can you please make a tl;dr?

I agree with this, its very true

Yin Yang - April 20, 2016, 7:21 pm

I agree with OP as well. For years staff members have been acting swiftly and promptly.

Armada - April 20, 2016, 7:22 pm

Everyone has their own way of saying thanks. I think the end of the day is just being a good member and not causing shit around here is the best way to show appreciation though.

Well spoken bro.

Exactly my man I try to just stay out of drama and support the community when I have extra money. I think the staff are good at what they do that's why I don't mind supporting the site

V?rt - April 20, 2016, 7:27 pm

I completely agree with you, don't get me wrong. Personally though, I think making a thread like this is just kissing ass. Armada said it best, just be a good member and help the community if you want to say thanks. I don't want people to see you as kissing ass either, but that's what it seems like to be honest.

FriendlyHugs - April 20, 2016, 7:27 pm

no i h8 ommy he bad men

Nah, thanks to the staff for moderating this forum. Feels good to be able to report something and know that it'll be looked into at the shortest notice.

Of course haha. And thats what i was afraid of. Threads thanking the staff team aren't a usual occurrence although they do occur. Everything that I'm saying is truthful and in reality i'm just hoping to brighten up their day.

I know, I completely understand and I'm not trying to be a dick about it. I know you're being truthful and genuine, and that they do deserve it. I just think there would be better ways to show it without people having an opinion on it.

Of course. I understand. I'm gonna be honest. I just had to post this thread. Its always been in the back of my head nudging/reminding me to post it. I obviously get that you can always show respect by being a good user to the community but once in a while. Its just great to thank the people that help maintain the forums on a daily basis.

BeNT- - April 20, 2016, 7:40 pm

I agree with the sentiment, but this thread appears to be a lame ass kiss IMHO.

Not h8ing or trolling, but if you mean that why not pm. Omni and donate for no award but to share with the staff.

Just 2cents.

I just feel like it would be easier to post a thread. Don't really want to personally bother him. If he has the time he will check out this thread. He obviously has more important things to do rather than read pms thanking him. Same as staff. So its easier to just leave a thread for them to see whenever they feel like it.

Mangekyo - April 20, 2016, 8:00 pm

I think a thread isn't necessary because it really does sound like you're kissing up to the entire staff team instead of giving any constructive criticism along with it.

Once again. Let me repeat this. I get your POV. But as I keep repeating. This is just something made to brighten up their day. Because they truly do deserve a thread for what they do "as cheesy as it sounds".

Horizon - April 21, 2016, 4:39 am

Perfectly explained. The work that goes in to keeping a website such as this in order is tremendous.

As mentioned, credit to Omni and the rest of the staff.

When Armada speaks, I listen. Nothing less, nothing more. PRECISE.

haydrazs - April 21, 2016, 4:49 am wheres the queue to get rimmed

Himitsu - April 21, 2016, 4:51 am

The ass licking is real today. For omni, we all are just numbers.

minimalist - April 21, 2016, 4:56 am

It's not feedback if you're only giving them a spiced-up "thanks." It feels like you're withholding something and that doesn't give much room for improvement.

Roytoy - April 21, 2016, 4:56 am

Nice thread. I've never made a feedback there but if I did, it would be like this.

Jester Race - April 21, 2016, 7:52 am

Are you trying to get asskisser award or what

All because of users like you saying that. The answer is No. The reason I posted this thread as I certainly keep repeating is just to brighten a staff members day.
