

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Add a redirect to Webmaster Marketplace in Webmaster Construction forum

D3xus - April 21, 2016, 8:59 am

I'm in the Website Construction forum quite a bit, and there's always at least one person looking to pay for a web developer, split profits with them, or pay for something web related. Reporting posts only does so much, and it would be nice if there were some other form of reinforcement.

It would make sense to add a redirect to the appropriate subforum, the Website Market. This is already implemented, to an extent, in the Graphic Services subforum; there is a redirect to the Paid Graphic Work subforum in the Marketplace. It would be nice if this would also be implemented in the Website Construction subforum, due to how similar their natures are.

Alternatively, it might be possible to add a forum rule or sticky which has a general link, but not a formal redirect, to the Website Market (a la Requests for Hacking as a forum rule AND a sticky, or Free Graphic Requests as a sticky). AND a

Bluffer - April 21, 2016, 1:27 pm

Good idea, needs a redirect I agree.

D3xus - April 26, 2016, 7:30 pm

Bringing this back up. It's still relevant and I still see it.

Webmasters - April 26, 2016, 8:46 pm

I can certainly see this as well, good suggestion.

Vitani - April 27, 2016, 6:05 am

This is a great suggestion. This could save staff and mentors alot of time very easely since members are still making posts like this in this section everyday.