Netoge no Yome wa Onnanoko ja Nai to Omotta?
(And you thought there is never a girl online?)

MAL Synopsis:

Quote:Our naïve protagonist proposes to a female character in an online game, only to find out that the player is actually a guy. Traumatized by that, he decides to never trust a girl online, but now, two years later, a female player is proposing to him. What will happen?

My Thoughts:

I am personally loving this anime, the 3rd episode was just released and it is just so nice and feel good. It is considered ecchi, but there is no nudity at all - just a lot of bouncing boobs which isn't all that bad :P In the end it is light-hearted entertainment that any nerd/weeb can get around because they understand the anime and gaming worlds. I love it!

Are any of you watching this? What do you think of it?

Omoi - April 22, 2016, 8:24 am

This shit is hot as fuck, really great anime.

SIM-2223238 - April 22, 2016, 8:25 am

It's hot indeed I love looking at those bouncy tits.

DerMensch24 - April 22, 2016, 9:22 am

Though I don't particularly watch ecchi, however this sounds like a pretty funny set up, so I might watched the first few eps and see what I think of it :3

Deany - April 22, 2016, 12:16 pm

I've been watching this since it came out and it's literally omg ima gaymer girl: the anime

CorrosiveBlueberry - April 22, 2016, 1:09 pm

Lol i actually enjoy this one it's a pretty damn enjoyable concept when i don't really tend to enjoy ecchi, or even daily-life anime with no real story line or point; however since it heavily involves rpg aspects as well as some interesting aspects such as reality vs game it keeps it interesting.

To all those who mentioned, I don't particularly like ecchi either - you don't really have to, like usually the whole ecchi thing makes the shows seem a little stupid, but with this it isn't overloaded with the ecchi concept and it is pretty tame and makes every really enjoyable. I would recommend to anyone for sure

I'll give it a go because it kinda reminds me of Sakurasou no Pet na Kanojo. Ecchi tho ?

Do! It is really good :)

SkullCandy - April 29, 2016, 1:21 am

New episode out today :) Going to check it out soon, so excited!!!!

BTCexchanger - April 29, 2016, 6:24 am

I watching it in the netflix

I didn't even realize it was already on netflix! Just watched the 4th episode, it is good but I feel like maybe it is going to the more drama side of the slice of life animation - I'm not sure yet absolutezero273 - May 1, 2016, 11:48 am looks like a generic ecchi harem cliché :v

SkullCandy - May 1, 2016, 4:53 pm

(May 1, 2016 11:48 AM)absolutezero273 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) looks like a generic ecchi harem cliché :v Well it is not harem at all and it is hardly ecchi - other than like two of the characters having big boobs, there is nothing else really ecchi about it. It is actually quite unique in its style and really quite funny. It is a little like Love, Chunibyo and Other Delusions

It is still ecchi, compared to like high school dxd, that's nothing. This is for those people who liked Chunibyo but wanted something a bit more to happen between the characters instead of some primary school level romance.

But it is still ecchi, although the characters are usually in school uniform - they don't usually look like that, them in those costumes is a very small part of the show, especially her in that costume. There is nothing more shown than that - that is basically as bad as it gets which is pretty tame for an ecchi :P

Just finished watching it (took my half a day) and it was quite enjoyable. I didn't have high expectations for it at first, but it scored surprisingly high on MAL for a new Anime of that type so I thought I would give it a go. Good watch, I recommend.

Yeah - it is good. it had a different take on the whole club thing with a final project to present. It is kind of like K-On! except with Video games and not music!

You shouldn't judge a show based on MAL's ratings the community there is full of inbreds

Yeah, like if we can't trust any of these sites then are we supposed to just take the word of some random internet person who just happens to have more credibility than a website that millions probably use.
