

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: [\[SUGGESTION\] Suggestion for Deal Dispute section](#)

Joy - April 22, 2016, 8:24 pm

Banned members should be allowed to access the Deal Dispute section if they have a deal dispute open so they can post there and try to resolve it. This will help many people to get the dispute resolved and they would also get a faster response from the banned members since they don't have to wait for them to get unbanned.

DeltaSeven - April 23, 2016, 12:45 am

Problem is, how do you want to implement that?

R2-D2 - April 23, 2016, 6:38 am

I think the case is really rare that a non scamming banned member has an open dispute. More likely the person with the open dispute is banned for scamming which would make it useless to give him access to the deal dispute section anyways.

divisive - April 23, 2016, 6:41 am

I don't think this is possible to implement.

Also it's useless if they're already banned man.

Portugal - April 23, 2016, 7:11 am

They had time to resolve it before the ban.

Sevn Alias - April 23, 2016, 7:12 am

(Apr 23, 2016 06:41 AM)Green Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't think this is possible to implement.

Also it's useless if they're already banned man.

This is possible. Omniscient only need to adjust the permissions of banned users in deal disputes sections.

Roytoy - April 23, 2016, 7:14 am

People can abuse this easily.

Rikk?a - April 26, 2016, 6:23 am

This would be more harmful than helpful they will just abuse it and spam the sub forum.

Vitani - April 26, 2016, 6:42 am

This would do more harm than good in my opinion.

If they want to resolve their scams they should do so whilst they are not banned yet.